Eyston Sets World Land Speed Mark Of Over 311 Miles

Englishman's Thunderbolt Covers Mile on Salt Flats in 11.56 Seconds

Highest Speed Touched 319 Miles

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah. (AP)—Capt. George Eyston of England today set a new world land speed record of 311.42 miles an hour.

The genial captain from London flashed through the mile and back again in the Thunderbolt, a 24-cylinder racing giant, for an average 11.56 seconds.

Capt. Eyston's speed the fastest man has ever traveled in an automobile, exceeded Sir Malcolm Campbell's record of 301.1292 miles an hour by a wide margin.

Sir Malcolm's mark, which withstood two previous assaults by Capt. Eyston, was achieved here in September, 1935.

Capt. Eyston, a thin, scholarly man of 40 who retired from the British Army several years ago, clipped the northward mile in 11.79 seconds for an average speed of 305.34 miles an hour, and then sped back in 11.33 seconds for an almost unbelievable mark of 317.74 miles an hour.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, on the outward run, was clocked at 11.83 seconds for 304.311 miles an hour and at 12.08 seconds for 298.013 miles an hour on the return trip.

KILOMETER RECORD

Eyston also shattered the kilometre record of 276.16 miles an hour established at Daytona Beach, Fla. Eyston's average speed for the kilometre was 312.20 miles an hour. He was clocked at 305.53 and 319.11 miles an hour for the two kilometre tests.

"I knew I was going faster than I'd ever traveled before when I made the run back," Capt. Eyston said. "Just before I entered the measured mile, my goggles began fluttering from the wind. I had to drive with one hand while I set them straight."

"It was a hell of a run, and I don't mean that profanely."

British Envoy In Five-hour Talk With Reich Head

Outcome of Chat Between Lord Halifax and Hitler Not Known

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Hitler, on the doorstep of his Bavarian mountain home, today welcomed Viscount Halifax, whose visit occupied five hours and possibly included an exchange of views on Germany's colonial ambitions.

The British Lord President of the Council departed at 3.30 p.m. for Munich, whence he expected to return to Berlin tonight. No details of his conversation during the luncheon with Hitler were divulged, except that it was cordial.

The Chancellor was said to be determined to keep the British Lord President of the Council in a position where, in order to take anything concrete home with him, he also would have to make concrete offers.

From the German viewpoint, Hitler, by his various pronouncements in recent months, has

House to Vote Approval of B.N.A. Act Amendment

The British Columbia Legislature will be asked by Premier T. D. Pattullo to support an amendment to the British North America Act giving the Ottawa government authority to bring in national unemployment insurance.

The Premier gave notice on the order paper of the House today. The text follows:

Whereas the Dominion Government had indicated its desire to establish a national system of unemployment insurance; and

Whereas under a decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council the Dominion Parliament would appear to have very limited jurisdiction to enact a comprehensive measure of national unemployment insurance;

Therefore be it resolved, That it is the opinion of this House that amendment should be made to the "British North America Act" in order to establish beyond question the authority of the Dominion Parliament effectually to enact a national scheme of unemployment insurance.

U.S. GROUP TO RANCH IN B.C.

MONTREAL (CP)—Richmond Pearson Hobson, son of the United States rear-admiral who won fame by sinking the Merimac in the Spanish-American war, likes the saddle better than the sea and is coming to Canada as a rancher in British Columbia.

It was announced today Mr. Hobson and a group of associates already had invested more than $40,000 in a vast ranch between Anahim Lake and the valley of the Blackwater River. A company has been incorporated with a British Columbia charter under the name of the Last Range Cattle Company. The scheme calls for a three-year development programme.

Control has been secured, it was announced, for sufficient range and meadows to run from 10,000 to 12,000 head of cattle.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie Urges Victoria to Send Mayhew to Back Policies

"I need a Liberal member from Vancouver Island. I want someone to help me, and guide me with regard to your affairs," Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Defence, declared with emphasis at a Liberal rally in the Royal Victoria Theatre yesterday evening, after outlining coast defence plans and other policies affecting British Columbia, for which he sought the city's endorsement.

Other speakers at the enthusiastic meeting, which accorded a rousing reception to Robert W. Mayhew, Liberal candidate, emphasized that this was Victoria's opportunity to have an effective voice at Ottawa. Premier Pattullo pointed out how valuable it would be at this time in negotiations between the province and the Dominion, and G. G. McGeer joined with the Minister of National Defence in urging Victoria to send a man to Ottawa who would be a supporter of those efforts being made for the benefit of British Columbia.

All of the speakers paid tribute to the memory of the late Hon. S. F. Tolmie, who was described as a man who had endeared himself in the hearts of the community irrespective of political affiliations.

In opening, Mr. Mackenzie said it was a matter of encouragement to the government at Ottawa to know a man of the calibre of Hon. John Hart was giving his (Turn to Page 3, Col. 3)

Chinese Defenders Lose Ground at Points on Line Defending Nanking

SHANGHAI (AP)—Crack the southern pivot of the Chinese "Hindenburg Line" defending Nanking, Japanese troops Friday struck shattering blows along its central and northern fronts.

Fighting through mud and rain, the Japanese drove the last Chinese defenders from Kashing and occupied that vital southern link in the "Hindenburg" chain. Central Japanese columns approached to within three miles of Soochow, the line's keystone, and northern detachments threatened to make untenable Chinese positions at Changshu.

About 125 miles northwest of the line, 12 Chinese divisions under the veteran General Tang Shen-chi entrenched themselves in strong defence positions just outside Nanking.

France Rallies Forces Against Armed Plotters

Chautemps Cabinet Wins Confidence Vote in Situation of "Terrible Gravity"

PARIS (AP)—Premier Camille Chautemps' government won a smashing vote of confidence from the Chamber of Deputies tonight on pledges to crush armed enemies within France and to attempt to "limit" war abroad.

The vote, unofficial, was 380 to 110 in favor of the cabinet.

Earlier Premier Chautemps had told Parliament investigation of the secret Cagoulard (Hooded Ones) organization had implications of "terrible gravity," as the government smashed at what it believed to be one section of a powerful revolutionary organization capable of conducting nationwide warfare.

The Premier said the government would ask Parliament for special legislation authorizing vigorous action against "The Hooded Ones."

The Premier's statement came as agents of the Surete Nationale extended an inquiry into three more French cities in an effort to ferret out arms depots of a secret military organization and end the alleged conspiracy.

Mr. Justice Macdonald Says Methods of Distribution in B.C. "Wasteful"

1,447-Page Report Reaches Legislature

Users of coal and gasoline in British Columbia are paying too much and users of heavy fuel oil are not paying enough.

This, in a nutshell, is the finding of Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald's Royal Commission on coal and petroleum products tabled in the British Columbia Legislature early this afternoon.

GASOLINE

The report says that gasoline in Vancouver should be reduced to 18 cents a gallon including the 7 cent government tax. And even if the present distribution methods were continued it should still be not more than 23 cents. In other parts of the province only freight costs should be added. Even with present distribution methods it should not be more than 23 cents.

There are five times too many service stations and retail outlets in the province.

With certain exceptions sale of gasoline should be confined to garages as incidental to their general business and to bona fide independent service stations equipped with competent mechanics.

Gasoline is sold and distributed by "wasteful and extravagant" methods to a marked degree.

Oil companies own, control or hold 93 per cent of the gasoline retail outlets of the province.

Extravagant wholesale and retail costs are mainly due to company ownership and control of service stations and to the integrated structures of the oil companies.

Differences in the price of gas between Vancouver and up-country and Vancouver Island points are unwarranted.

Heavy fuel oil is sold in British Columbia at uneconomic prices and does not carry its own fair load of costs. These costs are unjustifiably shifted to gasoline with, however, a net profit on the crude oil.

Consumers of gasoline have for many years been paying excessive prices for gasoline to enable oil companies to sell heavy fuel oil at a loss.

The price of coal, says the report, could be reduced to $6 a short ton here and in Vancouver by eliminating "wasteful methods" and setting up modern systems of distribution and consumption. But even with the present methods it should not be more than $8.10 a short ton, and all sizes of coal produced from the same mine should sell at the same price.

COAL

Central coal distribution depots could be established to replace present retailing; delivery could be made in bulk and automatic stokers widely used.

With modern mechanism and co-operation between the men and management, a reduction in the overall costs of mining underground in the Vancouver Island mines can be made from 70 cents to $1 a short ton, on the basis of (Turn to Page 20, Col. 1)

New Pact Move Is Welcomed

British Industry and Press Support Trade Negotiations With U.S.

LONDON (CP) — The contemplated trade talks with the United States were enthusiastically welcomed by British industry and the press today. They were hailed not only as a step leading to close economic relations between the British Empire and the United States, but as relieving international tension by promoting friendship and mutual understanding.

Guy Harold Locock, director of the Federation of British Industries, hoped the negotiations might lead to increased trade, a closer approximation in the trade balance between the two countries and, eventually, general improvement in the world position.

Col. A. C. Davis, chairman of the London Chamber of Commerce, said the news was very satisfactory and bound to have fruitful results for both nations. A special meeting of the tariff and commercial treaties committee of the Federation of British Industries will be held next Monday to consider the possible effects of the proposed agreement on British industrial interests.

NEW SOLIDARITY

"This is not an ordinary trade agreement," declared The London News-Chronicle, Liberal. It is deliberately intended as a demonstration of the solidarity of the world's greatest democracies against the threat of international brigandage. Its political importance is far greater than its economic significance."

The Manchester Guardian, Liberal, said: "It would seem the discussions of the Imperial Conference have borne fruit and the dominions have been satisfied."

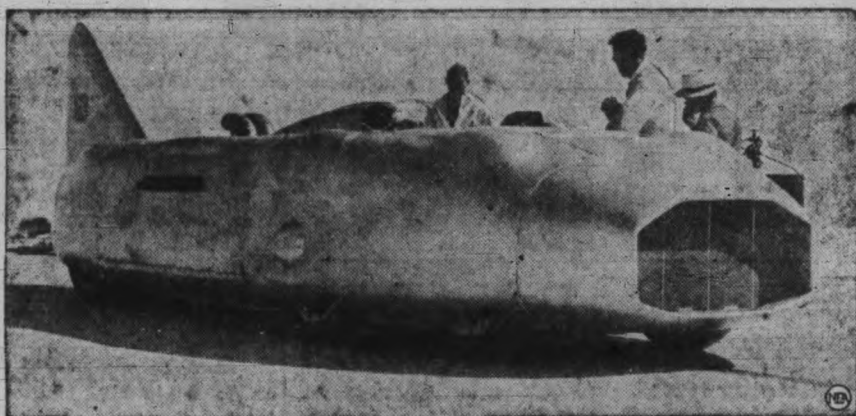

"This means the negotiations to be conducted will, in effect, not be purely United Kingdom negotiations, but Empire negotiations." The London Daily Express, Independent, while remarking that friendship follows trade and Great Britain and the United States need to be friends, adds: "There are ways in which American industry and agriculture are complementary to our own. But let us be plain. Ottawa stands!"

WANTS NO FAILURE

The London Daily Telegraph, Conservative, carried its comment under the heading: "The Right Foot Forward! Expressing its approval and warning against the results of possible failure of the negotiations, it observed that "such an agreement between two of the world's greatest industrial and trading nations cannot fail to have an effect far transcending the immediate material benefits to the contracting parties."

The London Daily Mail, Independent, denied the proposed pact held political ramifications. "It is being hinted," it said, "that the two chief democracies are aligning themselves against non-democratic countries. No view of the intended Anglo-United States pact could be false."

day's chat to state Britain's position on these questions. British sources, however, doubted Lord Halifax was in a position to do this.

Hitler's automobile was waiting at the railroad station when the British statesman's train arrived from Berlin. Lord Halifax was accompanied by the German Foreign Minister, Konstantin von Neurath.

A detail of S.S. troops—Hitler's guard—was at hand when the two special coaches carrying Lord Halifax and Baron von Neurath pulled into the Berchtesgaden station.

The two were taken directly to the Fuehrer's estate, where Hitler showed his British visitor around, pointing out the scenic splendor of the snowclad mountains.

Unofficial quarters believed Hitler might have informed his guest fully of German efforts to mediate the Chinese-Japanese conflict.

The unusual secrecy surrounding the possible topics for consultation caused more speculation among foreign embassies in Berlin than on any previous visit of a British statesman.

Lord Halifax lunched Thursday with the British ambassador in Berlin, Sir Neville Henderson.

1935, and normally operative until December 31, 1938. The British-United States agreement will be new and is expected to have an important bearing on Canada's trading relations with both countries.

PLANNED FOR SOME TIME

Proposed negotiations would have proceeded in any event regardless of any trade arrangements sought between United States and the United Kingdom, Mr. King intimated, since the present agreement will expire at the end of next year.

Questioned particularly on the possible bearing the British-United States negotiations might have on Canada's trade with Great Britain, the Prime Minister said that "at some stage they will undoubtedly require the consideration by Canada of possible changes in existing agreements."

The government had been kept fully informed of preliminary discussions between the United Kingdom and the United States, the Prime Minister said, "and is fully alive to the many and varied political and economic implications of these negotiations and to Canada's interest in their outcome."

This was the nearest the Prime Minister came to discussing the report circulated during the past six months that Canada may abandon some of her preferences in the British market as an aid to negotiations between the United Kingdom and the United States.

STATEMENT BRIEF

No comment on this point accompanied the brief, formal announcement that negotiations were contemplated. It was made in conformity with traditional United States procedure on trade agreements which requires formal advice to the people that changes in the tariff are under consideration.

Successive stages of negotiations will be announced for the benefit of United States citizens, who will be given ample opportunity to submit their views both written and at public hearings, on the proposed changes in commodity tariffs. Conclusion of any treaty will probably take several months.

DISCUSSIONS LINKED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department, setting out on its most ambitious effort to increase world trade, linked negotiations for a new Canadian trade treaty today with its efforts to do more business with Great Britain.

State Secretary Hull announced Thursday night a revision of the reciprocal trade treaty with Canada was contemplated. Earlier, he had made known the United States and Great Britain at last had agreed to work out a similar pact. The three countries control a major share of international trade.

The theory of such pacts, which the administration says has been proved true, is that a lowering of trade barriers stimulates business and makes for good will.

Signers agree to reduce tariffs on imports from each other, the affected commodities to be items which one nation produces in excess of its needs and which the other nation lacks.

The United States is interested primarily in selling more agricultural products in the rich British market. It is prepared in turn to grant concessions to British manufactured articles.

Department trade experts said the new Canadian talks were designed primarily to broaden the base of present trade by conferring mutual benefits on a wider range of products in both countries.

Some observers predicted other dominions might follow the lead of Britain.

his experts built in six months, performed perfectly after he had remedied clutch trouble which spoiled two previous efforts in the last month.

This time he conserved his machine on the first trip and made his supreme effort on the return. The 3,100-horsepower giant shot fire from four exhausts as it streaked through the mile at 317.74 miles an hour. A whirlwind of salt stirred from this dry lake bed in western Utah as the machine split the cool autumn air like a bullet.

"The car ran perfectly," Capt. Eyston said. "I could never have made the run if it had not been for the three fine Americans who fixed my formerly faulty left clutch." They are Eddie Miller, Dave Frank and Rile Brett of the American Automobile Association.

"I really had very little to do with getting the record," said Capt. Eyston. "About all I did was drive. My boys (the nine mechanics Eyston brought here from England) did the important work in getting the car in shape. The success was all due to my boys."

Notes of the Legislature

Tomorrow the House will not sit.

Yesterday's speakers in the debate: H. G. T. Perry, Liberal, Fort George; Harry Johnston, Liberal, Revelstoke; Colin Cameron, C.C.F., Comox.

At the present rate the budget debate will go well into next week. Probably on Monday the House will hear from George M. Murray, Lillooet Liberal, and Mrs. D. G. Steeves, C.C.F., North Vancouver. Premier Pattullo is expected to close the debate Tuesday or Wednesday, and the House will then be ready to go into estimates.

Premier Pattullo introduced an amendment to the new Department of Trade and Industries Bill which simply takes the former Department of Industries and puts it into the new department, giving the new minister the same powers as the former one.

Collections of the 1 per cent tax in the last fiscal year were $1,750,611, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, replied to questions.

The private bills committee of the Legislature this morning approved the request of J. M. Coady, Vancouver barrister, asking for incorporation of the new Roman Catholic diocese of Nelson, formerly a part of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Vancouver. Mr. Coady further asked return of the $300 deposit necessary in such cases, on the ground it was of an ecclesiastical nature. H. G. T. Perry, chairman of the committee, said the committee did not want to be too harsh on any religious or charitable organization and would give the matter consideration.

Ontario election. They had 48 candidates and the net result was they lost the only seat they had in the Legislature and had all their time and trouble for nothing.

"Are Victoria people going to vote for a corpse that is already dead?" Mr. McGeer asked.

Mr. McGeer said the present times were vital times, and times when responsibility should be in the hands of tried parties with proved traditions and principles and when people could voice their opinions without revolution and bloodshed.

He commended "Bob" Mayhew to them as a business man who had built up an industry in this city and as a man who would not wish to represent the Liberal Party at Ottawa unless he were confident it was a party that stood for the best interests of Canadian industry.

The speaker ridiculed Mr. McKelvie's professed alarm at Canada's close trade relationship with the United States and its possible threat to trade with Great Britain.

Canada, Great Britain and the United States were working harmoniously, together on trade agreements, the speaker pointed out.

"The present news that Britain and the United States are to have a treaty is the most encouraging we have had in these troubled years. It is a warning to all the world that Great Britain and the United States are standing together for world peace and prosperity," said Mr. McGeer.

South Africa Sends Regrets to Mussolini

PRETORIA (CP-Havas)—The government of the Union of South Africa has apologized to Premier Mussolini of Italy over publication in a Natal newspaper of articles concerning Il Duce's private life.

"The union government," read a communique issued Thursday, "has expressed its sincerest regret to the Italian government at the extreme bad taste and utter lack of consideration for the feelings of the Italian people displayed in those articles, and has offered the Italian Government and people its sincerest apologies."

Lord Cecil Is Doubly Honored

League Advocate Gets Nobel Peace Prize News As Awarded Columbia Degree

NEW YORK (AP)—Honors came double to Viscount Cecil of Chelwood on Thursday.

As news of the Nobel Peace Prize award came from Oslo, he was in the Low Memorial Library at Columbia University, about to receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the university, as spokesman.

After the death of Woodrow Wilson, Lord Cecil came to be regarded as the principal leader for the League of Nations.

Interviewed here three days ago, Lord Cecil pleaded that "at least 90 per cent of the population of the world is in favor of peace."

After receiving his Columbia degree from President Butler—winner of the Nobel award six years ago—Lord Cecil said of the Oslo announcement: "I'm surprised and very pleased."

Asked if he would accept the cash award which accompanies the peace prize, he smilingly said, "I'll wait until it's offered."

The prize is worth slightly more than $40,000.

Dr. J. Sirois Will Join Commission

Quebec Professor Named to Share in Dominion-Provincial Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Joseph Sirois, for 25 years professor of constitutional and administrative law at Laval University, Quebec, will take the place of Supreme Court Justice T. Rinfret on the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations. Mr. Justice Rinfret was forced to retire because of ill-health. Prime Minister King announced the appointment Thursday night.

Mr. Justice Rinfret has been in ill-health for some weeks although he attended the earlier organization meetings of the royal commission.

It was evident some time ago that his physical condition was such it would not be desirable for him to subject himself to travel and constant work which the commission will engage in and efforts were undertaken to find a successor.

Dr. Sirois is a member of one of the oldest notary firms in Quebec, a past president of the Quebec Board of Notaries, and is regarded as an authority on constitutional questions.

Under the chairmanship of Chief Justice N. W. Rowell of Ontario—the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations will open sittings in Winnipeg November 29. It will later visit every provincial capital and hold sittings in Ottawa. For some weeks organization work has proceeded here.

Exposure Caused Hunter's Death

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Ira E. Brinson, Trail hunter, died from fatigue and exposure after becoming lost on a hunting trip last Saturday, a coroner's jury decided here Wednesday.

The body was found in the Champion Lake district, several miles northeast of Trail, after search parties had scoured the district for three days.

MOTHER OF FIVE WHO WAS ALWAYS TIRED

Now Awakes As Fresh As A Daisy

A mother of five has a lot to do. Especially a country mother. And this one was "always tired." But Kruschen ended all that—now she gets up, feeling fresh, at 5 o'clock in the morning. She writes:

"I find Kruschen Salts the best thing money can buy for my health. I am the mother of five children, and before taking Kruschen, I was always feeling tired and run down. Now, I am glad to say that I get up feeling fresh—and I get up at 5 o'clock in the morning. I do my housework, look after my children, and leave the house at 6.30 to start my daily work."—(Mrs.) B.

Tiredness and that run-down feeling can be traced to one root cause. That cause is internal sluggishness; failure to keep the inside free from poisonous waste matter.

Kruschen Salts is an excellent recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate your internal organs to smooth, regular action. Your inside is thus kept clear of those impurities which, when allowed to accumulate, lower the whole tone of the system. (Adv.)

Psychiatrists See Ex-Premier

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Tewfik Pasha, 64-year-old former Egyptian Premier, today was under observation of prominent British medical experts in an attempt to "avenge" charges by his family he is suffering from mental and nervous disorders.

The family made the charges after the former Premier had announced his intention to marry a 17-year-old Austrian girl, Maria Uehner, daughter of a Vienna hotelkeeper. The former Premier made her a gift of £50,000 ($250,350). The engagement subsequently was broken.

International Settlement Estimates Its Street Damage in War at That SHANGHAI (AP)—More than $6,000,000 and two years of work will be required to repair the streets of the International Settlement damaged by Japanese-Chinese fighting.

A recent survey by the Shanghai public works department showed destruction in the Settlement war zones of Hongkew, Waiside and Yangtzepoo was so great even Japanese mechanized army units were unable to use the streets.

While the council probably will file claims for damage with the Japanese, foreign and Chinese taxpayers expect they will have to pay the bill. This will impose a serious hardship on the municipal council, in financial straits long before the outbreak of hostilities.

Davison Again Calgary Mayor

Civic Government and Taxpayers' Association Scores Victory at Polls

CALGARY—With counting under the proportional representation system completed, members of the Civic Government and Taxpayers' Association were congratulating themselves today on their success in Wednesday's civic election here. The candidates backed by the association opposed Social Credit nominees.

Mayor Andrew Davison, an Independent, supported by the C.G.T.A., was re-elected, the association's four aldermanic candidates were successful and two of its nominees were elected to the public school board.

Mayor Davison, re-elected for his fifth two-year term, was elected on the first count. Piling up the greatest vote of his political career, Mr. Davison had a majority of 6,118 over A. J. E. Leisner, the Labor candidate, who had the endorsement of the Calgary Social Credit League. Alderman James W. Gillman, an Independent in the mayoralty race, was a poor third. The vote was: Davison, 19,479; Leisner, 13,361; Gillman, 444.

Two Social Credit aldermen were elected—Mrs. Rose Wilkinson, for her second two-year term, and G. M. Brown for one year. Labor elected a candidate to the aldermanic board and one to the school board.

Re-elected to a two-year term: Alderman R. H. Weir, C.G.T.A., headed the poll, being declared elected on the first count. The other C.G.T.A. representatives were: James Mahaffy, E. A. McCullough and H. R. Chauncey. Alderman W. G. Southern, Labor, was re-elected to a two-year aldermanic term.

Argentina Is To Export 1937 Wheat

ITALY BOOSTS GASOLINE TAX

Levy Increased 40 Per Cent; Price in Rome Now 66 Cents a Gallon

ROME (AP)—The Italian government, furthering its programme to raise money for self-sufficiency development of the empire, has clapped a 40 per cent increase on the gasoline tax.

The levy, announced Thursday, raised the price of gasoline in Rome by 25 per cent, the new figure being 3.32 lire a liter, or 66 cents a gallon.

The increase was ordered as Italy observed the second anniversary of the League of Nations' application of sanctions against her during the Ethiopian war by dedicating herself to Premier Benito Mussolini's ideal of economic self-sufficiency.

Fascist industrialists were summoned to a great mass meeting and heard government leaders urge renewed efforts to attain national economic independence.

SIX LOSE LIVES IN SHED FIRE

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Six persons were burned to death early today, while sleeping in a one-room shed rented for their living quarters after the close of the sugar beet harvesting season.

Those who lost their lives were: Thomas Cebes, 68, Sara Cebes, 61, his wife, and Mrs. Benny Ortiz, 38, their daughter; Carmel Ortiz, 14, daughter of Mrs. Benny Ortiz; Sara Ortiz, 11, another daughter, and Henry Ortiz, 9, a son.

Police Chief Orville P. Kelley said the fire was too advanced when discovered to permit the rescue of any of the six persons sleeping inside.

Chief Kelley said all the victims' bodies still were in their sleeping postures, indicating none had received warning of the blaze. He said the explosion of an oil stove, possibly from the heat of a nearby coal stove, may have caused the fire.

No New Plan For Money Control

PARIS (CP-Havas)—Any establishment of government control over the money market would gravely prejudice French relations with Great Britain and the United States, Finance Minister Bonnet told the Chamber of Deputies Thursday. He opposed any form of control, which would constitute a violation of the tripartite monetary agreement signed by France, the United States and Great Britain September 25, 1936.

Despite obstacles, M. Bonnet declared, the country was well on the way to financial recovery. He predicted a balanced budget.

French gold was intact and there was a surplus of gold in the coffers of the equalization exchange fund.

Mass Production Of Houses Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Roper said today the housing industry needs to develop the mass production technique that has made other branches of United States industry "the most efficient in the world."

Mass production would solve high-cost construction problems, he told the National Appraisal Forum. Unit costs of materials would come down and labor might accept lower hourly wages in return for larger yearly earnings resulting from steadier employment, he said.

MAGAZINES IN QUEBEC SEIZED

Mayor of City Says "Dirty Literature" Will Not Be Tolerated

QUEBEC (CP)—Seizure of about 700 copies of five magazines in simultaneous raids Thursday by police on the offices of a distributing agency and several Quebec newsstands means that city authorities "are not going to tolerate the sale of dirty literature here," according to Mayor J. E. Gregoire.

Three automobile loads of policemen which left headquarters at the City Hall entered the premises of the Champlain News Company and City News Dealers and carried off all copies of Pic, Foto, Photograph, Look and Coronet in sight.

The raid was the result of an order given Wednesday night by Quebec's administrative committee, issued after Alderman Philemon Garneau had stormed into the committee room waving a copy of a magazine he considered "bad for the morals of our younger generation."

The little, bespectacled representative of St. Sauveur passed around the magazine, containing reproductions of three paintings by an old master, and demanded "action."

Marriage Service Rule Is Debated

LONDON (AP)—Lord Hugh Cecil proposed to the Church of England annual assembly Thursday that a church committee be named to prepare a bill to be submitted to Parliament to prohibit use of the marriage ceremony from the Book of Common Prayer for persons whose previous spouse is still alive.

The proposal ran into considerable opposition, some clerics arguing it would be unfair to innocent parties to divorces and others, suggesting it might lead to a church-state quarrel.

The Bishop of London, Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington Ingram, opposed the motion and held that the church's discipline was strong enough without parliamentary sanction.

"Out of 622 clergy in the diocese of London, all obeyed me in this matter, except two," he said. "One died and the other left."

INTEREST RATE LIMIT
EDMONTON (CP)—Appeal to the Dominion Government to decree a maximum interest rate of 3 per cent for western Canada was contained in a resolution passed unanimously here Thursday at the annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts. Charles Holder, delegate to the convention and Social Credit member of the Legislature for St. Albert, sponsored the motion.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police today reported two men failed in an attempt to hold up Cliff McKittrick, taxicab driver, when he refused to obey their commands. McKittrick drove the two men to a residential street, where one of them produced a gun and ordered him to lie on the floor of the cab. He leaped from the machine instead and the holdup men fled on foot.

It Is Not The Dole

THE MORNING PAPER NATURALLY is finding it difficult to discuss Prime Minister Mackenzie King's proposal for an unemployment insurance scheme. It by no means is enthusiastic about the idea, although it thinks that if Premier Pattullo were to follow up his approval of the plan with a resolution to the Legislature, "the probability is" that that body would endorse it—"for all parties are disposed to favor the experiment of the dole instead of the direct relief policy now in effect."

The Colonist knows that when it refers to the King proposal as "the dole" it is trying, very clumsily, to make political capital for the Conservative candidate to whom it is giving its support in the present by-election. The father of the dole in Canada, of course, was Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, who asked Parliament for—and got—a blank cheque to secure for the Dominion "peace, order, and good government," foremost in which was his promise to end unemployment. That was the dole in its worst form. It was an experiment economically and socially wrong in principle. Mr. King's plan, however, obviously will be constructed in such a form as to embrace the best in the British system, with safeguards to avoid the abuses notable in the earlier days of state employment insurance in Britain.

In any event, as the morning paper's Bible, the ultra-Conservative Montreal Gazette, says in a column-long editorial: "Whatever may be the merits or demerits of unemployment insurance provided by the state, or based upon state contributions, there can be no question as to the propriety of the course which the King government is pursuing as contrasted with the unconstitutional attempt of its predecessor."

The Vancouver Province, discussing the constitutional procedure involved, points out that "certainly on questions of this nature, no small minority of the provinces should be allowed to veto the plans of the majority."

A Brilliant Speech

CANADA'S MINISTER OF NATIONAL Defence, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, told a large and attentive audience here last night the story of the King government's administrative record for the last two years. There was nothing of rabid partisanship in the language he employed to deliver his message. It was a businesslike accounting to the people of Canada, as well as to the electors of Victoria, of the manner in which their affairs had been dealt with at Ottawa since the termination of the Bennett regime two years ago.

Mr. Mackenzie would have been less than human if he had not referred with a certain amount of natural pride to the achievements of the government of which he is a valued member. His brilliant and informative address, moreover, may be regarded as an eminently satisfactory accounting of the part he himself has played in the councils of the King administration as British Columbia's ministerial representative.

The minister covered a wide field and held the attention of the audience from start to finish. His particular reference to defence, his own special charge, was an illuminating recital of what confronted him when he took office and what it was necessary to do. It will be understood, of course, that delicate matters of this kind demand circumspection in their treatment on the public platform. Mr. Mackenzie's statement, however, may be taken as a definite assurance that the uncertain and unusual circumstances in which the world at large finds itself will continue to determine the trend of Canada's policy of defence.

Knowing Mr. Mayhew, both for his sterling worth as a Canadian citizen and his special knowledge by personal association with it—of external trade, and the necessity of its expansion to insure still more employment for Canadian workers, it was natural that Mr. Mackenzie appealed to the electors of this constituency to elect a government supporter on November 29.

"Some" Question

WRITING FOR THE "VICTORIA Social Credit Association," a supporter of the economic policy which Premier Aberhart still is thinking about in Alberta, asks Mr. Mayhew 10 questions—and says a reply "is eagerly awaited by approximately 400 voters of this riding."

"If Canada is to be strong and prosperous, it must be big enough to trade with the rest of the world," is quoted from Mr. Mayhew's first campaign speech. The question based on it is: "Do strength, happiness and prosperity depend on foreign trade? If so, will he explain how?"

Our suggestion to the "400 voters of this riding" is that they will find no difficulty in answering question No. 1 on the list. But why should candidates have to waste time answering questions from Social Credit adherents? We would have thought that if the local Social Crediters still believe the Premier of Alberta has got the world's economic solution in his pocket they would have backed a candidate in the present by-election.

Foresight Justified

NOTEWORTHY WERE THE unanimity of approval and expressions of satisfaction at the opening of the Pattullo Bridge across the Fraser River at New Westminster this week. They were in high contrast with the criticism and opposition the Premier encountered two years ago when he forced upon an unenthusiastic Legislature the bill to provide for its construction.

The bridge stands as a monument to Mr. Pattullo's foresight. Two years ago many apparently were unable to see its need. So great in the interval has been the increase in motor traffic along the Pacific Highway, of which it forms a part, that today we wonder how we could get along without it. The Premier merely saw then what is evident to all now. His foresight in this matter is characteristic of the vision that has marked his public career. Some folk speak of Pattullo "luck." But that is too easy an explanation. His "guesses" have been too consistently right to be accounted for without the factor of sound judgment.

Of course, tells on the Pattullo Bridge will stand as an issue until they are abolished, and probably after that unless their abolition is on a basis of equity with respect to the other parts of the province. A Dominion grant to meet a major part of the cost of the bridge, which is a necessary unit in an international highway, would remove the issue. Such a grant will probably be forthcoming in time. Until that time users of the bridge will have to pay for it as they use it. Removal of tolls would mean that the cost of the bridge would be spread over the whole province. The people of this island as well as of interior and northern parts would not, at the present, at least, take kindly to any such suggestion.

Dirigible Exit

THE BIG DIRIGIBLE MOORING MAST at St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, built at a cost of nearly $1,000,000, is to be dismantled and sold as scrap metal.

This mast was used only once—when the British dirigible R-100 visited Montreal in 1930. Ever since then it has stood idle, and the fact that the wreckers have at last been called in is a quiet announcement of the apparent end of the era in which we expected the dirigible to play an important part in the world's transportation system.

Remember that era? We talked of great skyliners then, enjoyed imaginary pictures of aerial Leviathans, thrilled to the graceful flight of the big, silvery airships, and confidently supposed that it would not be long before the skyways were full of them. But the fatal flaws which seem to be inherent in that type of air carrier became all too clear, as years passed; and the dismantling of this Montreal mooring mast is an unobtrusive symbol that we on this continent, for the time being, at any rate, have withdrawn from a game we once thought could be won easily.

Calgary's Woman Vote

TO SERVE A FIFTH TWO-YEAR TERM as Mayor of Calgary, Mr. Andrew Davidson, running on an Independent ticket, was re-elected on Wednesday by a large majority over his Labor opponent, Mr. A. J. E. Leisner, the latter having the backing of the Social Credit League.

Perhaps local disciples of Aberhartism, or Douglasism, or whatever they like to call the economic fad which is getting Alberta quite a lot of publicity, have an explanation for "Andy" Davidson's three-to-one victory.

We are told, incidentally, that a heavy woman's vote featured a record poll.

Notes

Divorces in Hollywood are not surprising. There never has been room in one house for two swollen egos.

Through all the controversy about sun spots, has anyone suggested trying a good, dependable liver pill on the astronomers?

"Every European schoolboy learns two languages." So do many of ours—the one they learn at school and the one they hear at home.

Germany decrees all right angles shall have 100 degrees instead of 90, making an even more vicious circle for the average Nazi to go around in.

NO DOMINION ELECTION

From Winnipeg Free Press

Premier King has done well to dispose of the rumors of the possibility of an early Dominion election—rumors due to belief that there was a favorable opportunity—by stating that there is not likely to be an election for three years, barring special and unforeseen developments. There is no reason, of course, why there should be an election, and the government has plenty to occupy its attention. But the announcement that it is the intention of the government to continue in office for the full term of five years will remove the disturbing political uncertainty which might otherwise prevail.

The policies of the government are well known, conditions in the country have been improving, there is no demand for an election, no indication that the government is losing the confidence of the country.

Mr. King's announcement is satisfactory to all the groups. There is no doubt that this is true. The Conservative party has no reason to desire an early election. The longer they have for the reorganization and reconstruction which many Conservatives think the party needs, the better. And the C.C.F. has hardly had the encouragement from the recent Ontario elections or from tests in other parts of the Dominion to raise its hopes and make it wish to rush into a federal election.

Across the Bay

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OUTBURST

FOUR YEARS Harry Perry sat in the Speaker's chair of this House, in silence, meditating deeply on many things. Years before that, a young Englishman in a strange frontier land, he read voraciously on many other things in the long winter nights of the North.

On Thursday this House heard what Mr. Perry had meditated and read. It came out in a sudden explosion of ideas, the like of which has not been witnessed here in modern times—an encyclopedia of knowledge on everything from sinking funds to the theories of Karl Marx—a cloudburst of eloquence—a glittering pyrotechnical display of wit and repartee.

It was, of course, the finest speech Mr. Perry has made, and he has made many fine ones. It was the finest this House has heard or is likely to hear. Within the rather long memory of this reporter it was the best since the epics of Oliver, and perhaps only equaled by Mr. McGee's first memorable oration here.

Type won't catch the flavor of it. Type can only catch a few of Mr. Perry's random thoughts as they gushed out, smoking hot. A real speech like this depends on the intangibles of personality, not on words; on the method of delivery, on the rise and fall, the tricks of gesture, of shout and whisper on that frail, little spark, the character of man, rising above words and above surroundings.

This may sound a little fulsome concerning a speech in this Legislature. It won't sound fulsome to those who heard Mr. Perry for 140 minutes. They listened like children to an adventure story—all afternoon and asked for more. There was no other man in the House who could have approached it. And there was a strange irony in it that this, the supreme defence of the government and of the Liberal Party, this first real, philosophical defence of historic Liberalism, should come from a man who has always been at odds with Liberal governments.

For the debating strength and intellect of the House and of provincial politics it is a good thing that Mr. Perry decided to retire from high office so that he could speak his mind again.

WIDE FLIGHT

LIKE DR. TELFORD, Mr. Perry sought to cover the entire gamut of public affairs in a veritable saga, but unlike Dr. Telford, he covered it step by step, systematically, logically, devastatingly. His defence of the budget was extraordinary, his attack on the Opposition effective, his handling of the C.C.F. so good that even the C.C.F. had to sit listening, eyes glazed with delight.

But it is in the higher spheres of politics, away up in the rarefied air of constitutional history and economic theory that Mr. Perry is at his best—a little too learned, perhaps, for these premises, a little too well read, but always electric.

He explained capitalism to the capitalists, finance to the financiers, socialism to the socialists, and much more competently than any of them have done. He tossed off quotations from Shakespeare and Dickens. He explained the communist theories of Strachey and flitted about with Marx and Engels.

By this time he had spoken two hours. Ordinarily the House would have been limp and listless; but just as it seemed to be subsiding he would put it up with another sudden burst of fervor, a quick phrase, a play of gentle sarcasm.

SMILE

AH, YES, said Mr. Perry, Mr. Maitland might smile. Ah, yes, said Mr. Maitland, he always smiled at Mr. Perry. Thanks, said Mr. Perry, he always smiled at the Opposition, too, because it was assuredly something to smile at. His retorts came flashing like that, but gently and with a lush parliamentary uncton.

Only once did he falter, when he called the C.C.F. financial system "a bag of tricks that is nothing but a bottle of mixed pickles"—a mixed metaphor fit to rank with Harry Pooley's epic "play-cricket-by-the-Marquis-of-Queensberry—rules—with-the-cards-on-the-table."

It was the end of the speech that plumed the deepest of Mr. Perry's thoughts. He has seen far ahead of the average politician. He has seen and now preaches a reorientation of party lines. And his final appeal, hands clenched, arms waving, eyes glittering, was for all Liberals, including the "reformers" of the C.C.F., to rally together and make a "real Liberal Party," for Liberalism, says he, is bogged down with the Tories in its ranks, while such true Liberals as Mr. Bennett are in the wrong party.

Mr. Johnson followed Mr. Perry and impressed the House as a thoughtful, competent man who will be an excellent representative of Revelstoke. Mr. Cameron, of Comox, perhaps the most promising speaker in the C.C.F., a young man filled to overflowing with a passion for reform and a fine hatred of rotten things, wound up the day. He should become a competent parliamentarian.

NATIONAL UNITY

From The Winnipeg Tribune

Since Mr. King assumed office we have had a different temper of government in Canada, with different strengths and different weaknesses. Mr. King's first purpose appears to be to preserve the unity of Canada, and therefore to avoid as far as possible action of any sort that might bring the Dominion into conflict with sectional interests. But, as in the case of Alberta banking legislation, which his government disallowed, he has shown that he can take resolute action when sufficiently pressed.

Mr. King has proceeded on the theory of keeping the country upon an even keel. The virtues of such government are often negative, though the present Prime Minister has placed able men around him. Mr. King's critics complain of too little action at Ottawa; Mr. Bennett's of too much.

PARALLEL ACTION

IT WOULD BE impossible, according to The Week, to exaggerate the gravity with which the Colonial Office views developments in the Near East, or the state of alarm to which they have given rise.

At the very moment when the Foreign Office hands out its now familiar communique on "hopes of conciliation" and "a better spirit prevailing," high officials at the Colonial Office are in consultation with the Admiralty regarding the prospects of "war at both ends of the Mediterranean."

It is significant that the Colonial Office, which in the past has taken even less interest than other departments in the actual technique of the Italian war in Spain, or rather in the technique of the starting of the war, today is studying just that, responsible officials there swinging now to the appalling conclusion that a parallel action has already been worked out for use in the eastern Mediterranean, and that only a very short space of time can elapse before the plan begins to go into action.

STRONG HAND

THE ONLY serious decision taken by the nervous Colonial Office in face of the situation is one which is regarded by many responsible officials there as absolutely disastrous.

In fact the Colonial Office is still gravely split on the issue, with Ormsby-Gore and his friends at The Times office at present rushing their own policy into action with as little regard as possible for the criticism of those who differ from them.

There have been two opposed views of the Palestine problem current in the Colonial Office. One, in which Sir Arthur Wauchope concurred, was the belief that in order to rule it is necessary to divide the Arabs, treating some as "moderates," others as "extremists." The other view held that the Arabs "must be made to understand that Britain will tolerate no nonsense" and based a good deal of the strength on the fact that to follow the policy of division by treating the "moderates" moderately, does necessarily result in some "trouble," and they cite the rebuke issued at the Mandate Commission of the League.

The "strong" line has in fact been adopted now, with the result that since action was taken against the Mufti, there is today a greater anti-British unity of "moderate" and "extreme" Arab opinion than ever before.

THE SPECTRE

WITH Italian pan-Arab plans already alarming the Colonial Office and Foreign Office, further alarm has been caused by reports to the effect that part of the purpose of the visit to Rome of the Japanese ambassador to Berlin was the discussion of the co-ordination of the efforts of both powers in the direction of enflaming the Near East.

There is now being recalled a report published early last year detailing the somewhat "Oppenheim" proceedings of the Japanese in their efforts to inject themselves into the Moslem world in the position of "leaders and saviours."

Japanese plans in this direction have certainly advanced at a much less rapid rate than those of the Italians, but far enough to send a final shudder through Whitehall when intelligence officers from the Near East paint spectral pictures of the kind those people are so good at painting of what would happen if the pan-Arab efforts of the two powers were to be linked.

Reports from Iraq to London officials have now stated that the interest is triangular—Italo-German-Japanese—with Italian adherence to the German-Japanese "anti-communist pact."

G.B.S. Respectful For Once

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW'S

"William Morris As I Knew Him" is now at the Victoria Public Library. The spectacle of Mr. Shaw being respectful in print to anyone is almost too unnerving to be quite pleasant; Mr. Shaw writing respectfully for 50 pages is a portent that has not happened since the "Quintessence of Ibsenism." But William Morris entirely deserves this feat. When Shaw as a young man first became connected with the British Socialists, he met William Morris, one of the leaders of the movement, and the two, in spite of disparity in their ages, became close friends. This record of a friendship between two brilliant men of diverse endowments, united to a common social aim, common moral values, and appreciation of each other's qualities is clear eyed, kindly, and of course, witty. No one can peruse Shaw's brief memoir without being aware that, in the succinctness of wit, and snatches of autobiography, he is actually gaining insight into the personality of not one genius, but two.

MINISTER APPEALS FOR ENDORSEMENT OF COAST DEFENCE

support to this campaign to send a Liberal to Ottawa. It was also a source of satisfaction to see that great protagonist of real Liberalism, Premier Pattullo, on the platform supporting a man of the integrity and wonderful repute of "Bob" Mayhew.

The minister clearly and concisely expounded the Dominion Government's national defence policy. Canada did not seek to take a belligerent stand but the day had come when in a mad, torn world a country of the vast resources of Canada must have security.

"For this purpose we must have a respectable and self-respecting policy of national defence. The day has gone when we can sponge on our contiguity to the United States or on our membership in the British Empire," he said.

The defence programme was not a matter of politics. Conservatives and Liberals had both voted for the defence estimates in the House.

The minister referred to the appropriation for this purpose for British Columbia increased from the 1935-6 total of the Bennett regime of $1,916,000 to $5,817,000 with an additional $2,246,000 for air equipment. This was a programme for the Pacific Coast, from Prince Rupert to Esquimalt, including points at Vancouver and Vancouver Island which could not be completed until 1940.

"I am here," said the minister, "not as a Liberal or as a politician but as Minister of National Defence, who has had some difficulty in this programme to ask you to indicate to the government do you approve of these policies of security for the Pacific Coast, or do you not?"

Mr. MacKenzie mentioned he had had some difficulty in securing these estimates and urged Victoria electors to give their endorsement by sending to Ottawa a man who could assist him.

Mr. MacKenzie pointed out the naval magazine in Esquimalt had been condemned as far back as 1905 but nothing had been done about it until the Liberal government did it, and told how Canada's forces had been starved to deterioration during the depression.

ROWELL COMMISSION

Proceeding, the minister said the Royal Commission on Dominion and provincial relations would function in a few weeks. The work of the commission would not be final. It would be followed by an interprovincial conference or a national assembly which would draw up a new constitution for Canada.

He dealt with the platforms of the Liberal party which included provisions for personal liberty, investment control, fair distribution of wealth, democratization of industry, and credit control.

With regard to unemployment Mr. MacKenzie declared there was need for a national system of unemployment insurance. A scientific scheme of contributory insurance with employer, employee and state subscribing was not a dolt, he said, in taking exception to Conservative's description of the plan.

Under Liberal administration $687,000,000 of debt had been refunded saving $13,457,000 in interest. This had been done in two years.

"If revenues continue to accrue I am convinced we will be in sight of balancing the budget at the next time the Minister of Finance brings down the budget," Mr. MacKenzie said.

While the government had reduced the tax on 546 items, revenues had increased by 40 per cent, he said. He spoke of the trade agreements signed with U.S., Japan, Russia, Germany and other countries. The Empire treaties would be maintained, he said.

HON JOHN HART

Hon. John Hart, who presided, in commending Mr. Mayhew as the Liberal candidate, said he was a man of wide business experience who had built up a valuable industry in Victoria. The knowledge of business and foreign markets which had enabled him to do this would be of great assistance to the House at Ottawa. He had proved himself a sound man, a man of stability, and his record in public life had proved the public spiritedness which had made him known and respected in the city he had been asked to represent at Ottawa.

Mr. Mayhew's address was very brief. He said he appreciated the honor that had been conferred on him by selecting him as the Liberal candidate and the presence of Hon. Ian MacKenzie at the meeting.

If he were sent to Ottawa he would serve Victoria to the best of his ability and his time would be at the disposal of his constituents regardless of party lines. He would also co-operate to the best of his ability with the provincial government in helping the city as much as possible.

"Whatever experience I have gained in 30 years of business in selling to the world, I will devote to the government which has in many ways helped me," he said.

PREMIER PATTULLO

Never was there a time when it was so essential that the voice of British Columbia should be so united, and that Victoria should have a voice in the affairs at Ottawa, was the keynote of Premier Pattullo's address.

The voice of British Columbia should be as united as possible, and with the Liberal administration at Ottawa elected for another two years and the B.C. government for approximately another five years, it was a time when Victoria should send a man to Ottawa whose sympathies were with those administrations.

"Is it reasonable to suppose the opposition viewpoint can be helpful?" Premier Pattullo asked. "Just put yourselves in our position. The B.C. government needs the very best possible representation at Ottawa."

"Opponents were trying to make it appear," said the Premier, "that the Empire treaties would be in jeopardy if a Liberal were elected."

Last June when the Prime Minister of Canada had gone to the Coronation, Premier Pattullo had wired Mr. King, pointing out the advantages of the Empire preferences to British Columbia. The telegram which he had received in reply had made it clear that the government was fully alive to the situation.

The primary industries of the province were as fully protected as possible, Premier Pattullo emphasized.

THE YUKON

The Premier said he had no apologies to offer over the Yukon. He had asked the Dominion Government to postpone the transfer of the territory until after the report of the Dominion-provincial commission. He also intimated that the McKenzie Basin might be added to B.C. when its boundaries were extended to the north. The addition of these two territories would double the size of the province.

"I am very much in favor of an Alaska-Yukon Highway," Premier Pattullo declared. "It will open up not only the north but great territories within British Columbia."

Premier Pattullo pointed out that the coast did most of the business with the Yukon and if the population of the Yukon were doubled or trebled, the business would be doubled or trebled.

"You'll find new uses for the P.G.E. before the provincial government goes out," he said. "B.C. will be teeming with people."

Three cheers were given at the end of the meeting for Mr. Mayhew, Mr. MacKenzie and Premier Pattullo.

Victoria West To Hear Mayhew

Ward 1 Liberals will hear their federal by-election candidate and other speakers at the Victoria West Social Club, Skinner Street, tonight at 8.

In addition to R. W. Mayhew, who will deliver the feature address, the gathering will hear Mrs. Nancy Hodges, C. J. McDowell and R. W. Fairclough.

Mrs. A. C. Ross will occupy the chair.

It is believed that Indians first used bows and arrows early in the Christian era; before that time spear throwers were used in this country to hunt birds.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1937

Adverse planetary aspects dominate today, according to astrology. Under this sway there may be a tendency to look on the dark side of things and to seek for pessimism in the future.

Warning is given that the temptation to live recklessly will be strong in the coming months. Gaming, speculation and high living will be prevalent.

The stars presage perils for the young, especially for students in high schools and colleges. Cause for reviving caution for prohibition will be insisted, if studied seriously.

Accidents, especially involving motor vehicles, will be numerous today. Airplanes may encounter bad weather. Cleis may be vain and self-centred under this direction of the planets. Foolish affairs will bring grief to many who seek admiration.

Again labor is under threatening portents which may be responsible for suffering among workers. Winter strikes are foreseen.

Old persons should avoid large cities as places of residence. Ill omens attend all risks to health as the new era progresses. Persons whose birthdate is 11 have the augury of a year of perplexities, especially those that concern the heart. The young should be cautious in love affairs.

Children born on this day probably will be emotional and temperamental. Subjects of this sign may be unstable but extremely talented.

Walter Evans Edge, senator and diplomat, was born on this day, 1874. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Arthur Guiterman, poet, 1871, and Patrick Joseph Hayes, Roman Catholic cardinal, 1867.

W.I. Factor In Promoting Peace

Says Lady Tweedsmuir In Address At Federation Convention

TORONTO (CP)—Women's Institutes had a part to play in the promotion of peace, Lady Tweedsmuir, wife of Canada's Governor-General, said yesterday in an address to the 10th annual meeting of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada.

"If we do not have peace in our hearts, homes and communities, how can we have it among the countries of the world," she asked. "When history is written, may it be recorded that women's institutes had been one of the greatest unifying and stabilizing powers of the times, and may it be said of them as of Cromwell—'they did the best of things in the worst of times.'"

Lady Tweedsmuir, a former county organizer of Women's Institutes in England, brought greetings to the Canadian meeting from English institutes.

She advised delegates regular institute meetings should be "good parties" and not "nests of envy and jealousy." They should be "delightful, inspiring, interesting and pleasant." When institutes sponsored lectures or other forms of entertainment, the best available persons should be obtained for the programmes. "We should not be satisfied with anything but the best—in music, art and literature. When budgeting, we should plan for the best lecturers and teachers."

"His Excellency feels that if ever a list of martyrs is compiled, he should head it," she said jokingly. "I was a county organizer in England and my cook was a Women's Institute member, which took us both from home frequently."

"Such a powerful organization as the Women's Institutes should urge governments to provide decent facilities, especially libraries, for adult education in every rural area of Canada," Dr. E. A. Corbett, Ottawa, Canadian director of adult education, said in an address on "Education for Citizenship."

No education was ever completed, he said. It should begin at home and in schools, but no youth's education was sufficient for the changing complexities of modern life.

Security For All Is Liberal Party's Aim

Says Mrs. Paul Smith at Women's Rally in R. W. Mayhew's Interests

"I look forward to the time when Canada will have a health insurance plan as a necessary part of that trinity of service which spells social security—unemployment insurance, a re-organized employment service and health insurance," said Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P., before the largely attended women's rally held in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Liberal Women's Forum.

Mrs. Smith was speaking in the interests of the Liberal candidate, R. W. Mayhew, and based her address on suggested reforms which came within the ambit of federal responsibility and which were in line with Liberal policy.

These reforms, designed to offset the fears engendered in the working classes during the years of the depression and to ensure a sense of social security against such economic disasters, included a national unemployment scheme.

NOT CHARITY

In this connection, Mrs. Smith commended Prime Minister Mackenzie King for his initiative in taking steps toward the removal of the constitutional difficulties in the way, Great Britain, always to the forefront in humane and progressive legislation, had instituted a contributory scheme of unemployment insurance years ago, and Canada was to be congratulated on following such a sound lead.

"Do you call that system charity? I don't. Those who benefit by it have paid for it," the speaker maintained.

As a corollary to unemployment insurance, Mrs. Smith suggested the reorganization of the employment services, to be more or less federally controlled. She also advocated the establishment of occupational and vocational training classes for young women and girls between the ages of 18 to 35.

The University of British Columbia, fine as it is, offers a professional training to only 10 per cent of the boys and girls of British Columbia, she noted. "The other 90 per cent should be given as good an opportunity to learn a trade. While admitting that education is under the jurisdiction of the provinces, Mrs. Smith thought that the Dominion Government could come to the rescue by giving grants in aid of such vocational education, as it had done in the past for agriculture."

The Dominion Government had already set aside $1,000,000 for the training of young people along vocational lines, but the speaker maintained that more millions would be needed to cope with the problem of the unemployed youth of Canada. She looked forward to the time when trade schools would be identified with all the high schools of Canada to establish trade training opportunities for boys and girls.

Mrs. Smith touched briefly upon the experiments which had been made in British Columbia along these lines, with such success that many boys and girls had been helped into gainful employment.

SLUM CLEARANCE

Reference was also made to the need for slum clearance, with the resultant benefit to the health of the community and the opportunity provided for employment to those engaged in the building and allied industries. Mrs. Smith also touched upon prison reform, warmly advocating the Borsal system, which offered a second chance to boys and girls who had broken the law.

The need for some grant in aid for the care and treatment of sufferers from mental disease, venereal disease, and tuberculosis was emphasized by the speaker in her claim that such matters should be considered a federal responsibility and, as such, were worthy of the support of Victoria's next representative at Ottawa.

While much had been done to provide employment by means of such undertakings, as the building of court houses and roads, these offered only temporary alleviation, and unemployment insurance on a contributory basis was the only sound remedy.

HOME LOAN PLAN

Mr. Mayhew, in his brief address, reiterated his assurance that if elected he would work in the interests of all sections of the community. He commended the accomplishments of the Mackenzie King government, with particular mention of the home loan plan and noted that under this scheme more than 3,000 homes had been improved, and in Victoria alone $80,000 had been spent in improvements and building of new houses. Three or four of his own men in the Sidney Roofing and Paper Company were building their own homes under this plan. This made for comfortable, contented and happy citizens, and was important to the community, as nothing anchored a man to a place like owning his own home.

Mrs. H. F. Hodges presided, and Kathleen Redgrave Lavell, accompanied at the piano by Miss Ethel James, charmingly sang two solos, "The Wren" (Benedit) and "A Heart That's Free" (Robyn). Mrs. J. S. Atkins, president of the Liberal Women's Forum, presented corsage bouquets to Mrs. Paul Smith, also to the musicians and the chairman.

INDIAN WIDOW SAVED

DELHI—The 20-year-old widow of an Indian constable was dragged from her husband's funeral pyre by two Europeans when she attempted to destroy herself in "suttee," the old Hindu custom.

Youths Dismissed In Saanich Court

Charles Brown, Ernest Smith

and Frank Dunegan, three youths charged in the Saanich

Police Court with discharging dynamite in a manner likely to cause serious damage and endanger life, were dismissed by Magistrate Hall yesterday.

Evidence was that the youths had discharged dynamite on Hallowe'n night on Tillicum Road and Lampson Street.

W. H. M. Haldane, counsel for

Smith, and J. G. Rutan, appearing for Dunegan, submitted that there was no evidence to show the explosions endangered life.

The court agreed, and on this basis dismissed the case.

The three youths had already been committed for trial on a charge of breaking and entering a garage owned by John Baron, from which a quantity of shotgun and rifle shells, lubricating oil and a flashlight were stolen.

MAKING THEIR DREAMS COME TRUE

INTO the lives of thousands of Canadian women has come a new happiness—a new sense of security—through their wise investment in Life Insurance.

These modern, self-supporting young women have adopted the Life Insurance plan of making their dreams come true. By setting aside small amounts now, they can look forward to the time when they can say "au revoir" to their daily routine and enjoy life to the full.

Their Life Insurance will free them from money worries today and tomorrow—providing a cash reserve in times of emergency—and, later on, a guaranteed monthly income as long as they live.

To women, as well as to men, Life Insurance ensures financial security through little savings. That is why women are now buying, on an average, one out of every five Life Insurance policies sold in Canada.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"We certainly were hard hit in the market slump, else I wouldn't still be using this old 1937 car."

Perry Challenges Opposition to Cut

Former Speaker Makes Brilliant Defence of Government Financing

A fighting defence of the government's expenditures since 1933, a challenge to the Opposition to dare cut down the costs of social reform, a plea to the C.C.F. to tell the people of the province whether they were for Socialism or Communism and a forecast there would be a re-orientation of political parties in Canada before another five years, featured a brilliant 135-minute address of H. G. T. Perry, Liberal, Fort George, in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

It was Mr. Perry's first speech on political issues from the floor of the House in four years, as he was Speaker of the Eighteenth Legislature.

Mr. Perry said it was quite true the government had increased its expenditures by $7,000,000, but stressed how important such expenditures had been, how it was more necessary to look after human, rather than financial interests. He threw a challenge across the floor of the House to any Opposition members to fight the estimates for these necessary social obligations, when they were brought down by the Provincial Secretary.

He traced how confidence had been restored by the Liberal government, how new payrolls had been created, how unemployment had been decreased—all the government had done was testified by increased revenue without increased taxation.

EXTEND P.G.E.

The P.G.E. Railway, he said, was carried on the balance sheet as a net asset of $22,000,000 and was not a liability of $77,000,000 as members of the Opposition said.

"And if you think the P.G.E. isn't worth $22,000,000 you don't know what you're talking about and you don't know anything about the country through which it passes," he said.

He said traffic would make that road pay and that the road must some day be finished into the Peace River Country, for there were the resources which would give revenues. When it was completed into the Peace River it would become a real asset to the province, he said.

A road or railway to the Peace River Country, he said, was more important than a road to Alaska and as far as he knew the government was not committed to the construction of such a road. He recalled it was the late Dr. Tolmie and his followers that started a caravan from Seattle to the north.

As a solution for the patronage evil, which still existed in British Columbia, he suggested district councils which would look after their own portions of the government highways, just as school boards look after education in their own districts. Then it would be up to the councils to place men at work on the roads.

CAN'T SHOOT PEOPLE

He defended the neglect of the government to provide for its sinking funds. He said it was forgotten that capitalism was built on debt.

"I don't get alarmed about deficits in these troublesome times," Mr. Perry said. "There is only one way you can keep people from revolt and that is by creating purchasing power. You can't line up people and shoot them. You have to feed them."

The depression, he said, had made it imperative the government consider human as well as financial rights.

Reduction of the number of members of the Legislature, he said, as suggested by the Conservatives would mean the government would be controlled by an oligarchy, which would be the first step towards Fascism.

He did not favor grants to municipalities, as such a system was too precarious. He offered a solution—that the government take over the entire cost of education, which, he said, should not be a function of local government. He criticized the Conservative "pay-as-you-go" idea, and wondered whom they would tax to do it. He thought they would put in a sales tax, which, he said, was a tax on the poor. He said he was amazed at their attitude. One minute they urged reduction of debt and the next advocated increased expenses.

CUNNING AND GUILT

The C.C.F., he said, avoided the word Socialism during the recent election, because of a feeling of cunning and guile, and because they were out to fool people. Socialism was nothing to apologize for, he said.

He expressed the opinion a commission did not relieve the government of any responsibilities and that a private member should have more rights.

The major debt increase in British Columbia since 1933 was due to unemployment. The situation had greatly improved, and if there had been no outsiders coming in probably, by this time, every able-bodied man in the province would be working. This influx of outsiders into the province was causing the greatest problem, one which was properly that of the Federal Government.

"Unemployment is the great problem of society," Mr. Perry said. "It lays its ghastly hand on every home in the land, brings despair to honest workers and hopelessness to every youth. It is now issuing its final challenge and remedies, national in scope, must be applied."

Purchase of two snow ploughs, at a cost of $1,165, was authorized by the Saanich Council yesterday evening.

Purchase of $33,000 worth of British Columbia 5½ per cent bonds due 1945 from Buckle & Munro was approved by the Saanich Council yesterday evening. The purchase price was $31,841 the total cost being $33,697.

Keep your liver healthy and you'll feel great every morning. When you wake up feeling "rotten" your liver is out of order. Your liver cleans the blood of poisons, separates the nourishing part of your food from the waste. Supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands—gives out bile, the body's laxative, helps stomach, kidneys and intestines to work properly. A more bowel movement isn't enough. "Fruit-A-Tives" made from fruits and herbs, will strengthen and build up your liver like nothing else will. You'll be amazed how well you are every morning. Try Fruit-A-Tives. All druggists.

By PETE SALLAWAY

HENRY COTTON, England's number one golfer, must realize by this time he is not very popular with a large number of people. A fine example of just what some of his friends think of Cotton was seen the other evening when a complimentary dinner for the links star was cancelled owing to the lack of acceptances. This was not the first instance that the general public has shown its disfavor of the temperamental Cotton.

Strange that the boycotted dinner should follow a recent statement by Cotton that a player who reaches the first flight of the game against world-wide competition can be excused if he becomes temperamental. Early in his career Cotton set himself an ambitious task—to become open champion of Great Britain. In the process he worked hard and play to him was serious business.

"We do not mind having a crowd watching when we are playing," he said. "We know it is a compliment to our play, but it is not generally realized that interruptions when we are engaged in serious competition, the winning of which might mean a great deal of money, can be very trying."

Cotton remarked it was common experience for him to be stopped during the progress of an important match and bluntly told: "Oh, you remember me!" Invariably, he said, it turned out to be a person who had picked up his hat when it blew off miles from a golf course, a party who had asked for an autograph six years before, or had some similar excuse for claiming acquaintance.

"On such occasions when I'm concentrating to the limit on the play, my reply depends entirely on the mood I happen to be in at the moment," he confessed. Cotton referred with undisguised amusement to the early days of his rise to fame. "When I started to play seriously all the better players were Americans," he said. "I thought the best thing was to imitate them." He began by buying black and white shoes and a bright-hued sweater. "That did not seem to help a lot but I persevered and decided I could still become a naturalized American citizen if everything else failed. Finally I managed to win, and since then I think everything British looks better."

Sport ramblings—It cost the Fresh Meadow Country Club at Flushing, N.Y., $4,000 to repair the damage done by the John Montague-Babe Ruth golf tournament—green were torn up, flower beds trampled, fences torn down and bunkers scattered by the gallery of 10,000 customers, most of whom insisted on shouting, "Slam 'er Out, Babe," or "Sink that Baby for Me, Johnny," just when they were supposed to keep quiet. . . . Chicago Cubs, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates are all bidding for Van Mungo, Brooklyn pitching star with the Cubs reported to have the inside track. . . . Here is a real golf story—Myron B. Thurrell, Torrington, Conn., high school teacher, stood on the fifth tee at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month and fired away with a No. 4 iron. . . . the ball landed in the cup, 175 yards away. . . . Jimmy McLarnin, one of the best in his day, is definitely through with the ring. . . . it must be so, for old Pop Foster, who wouldn't look at another fighter when Jimmy was active, has taken Bobby Siegel, a 126-pounder, under his wing.

CONTINUE DIZZY PACE IN MAJOR HOCKEY LEAGUE

Come From Behind to Beat Americans 2 to 0; Leafs-Canadiens Draw

Hawks Victors

Manager Art Ross, Coach Lionel Hitchman and the boys, known collectively as Boston Bruins, can step right up today and take a deep bow—which even their opponents can't begrudge them.

And while the plaudits are being handed out, it might be a good idea to reserve a cheer or two for Connie Smythe's merry Maple Leafs from Toronto, who come closest to Bruins in being the "sensations" to date in the National Hockey League.

While Coach Jack Adams was getting another dose of worry as his world champion Detroit Red Wings lost last night, Bruins took their fourth victory in as many starts by whipping New York Americans, 2 to 1, in a game at New York. Leafs, also forging an unbeaten chain—but one that has some tie links in it—drew with Montreal Canadiens, 6 to 6, at Montreal. The hapless Wings were trimmed 3 to 1 in Chicago by Black Hawks.

Bruins, so far, have disposed of Montreal Maroons twice and have beaten both New York squads, Rangers and Americans, once. In contrast Leafs have played five winning two and tying three. That's the set-up that provides a "natural" between the two teams in Toronto tomorrow night.

WITHOUT SHORE

As a convincer of their class, if any were needed, Bruins sped to victory with a crippled team. The fact they were minus burly Eddie Shore, their ace defenseman, and forwards Ray Gettiffe and Charlie Sands didn't bother them a whit, though loss of these three made them underdogs before the start of the game.

Victory for Bruins kept them still two points ahead of Hawks in the league's United States section. Hawks, who now have six points, are also two in front of Rangers while Red Wings, still groping for the form that brought them the world championship the last two years, are an unhappy last with three points.

The Boston victory also helped the Dick Irvin-coached Leafs in the Canadian division. Leafs, in picking up a point with their draw, are now three points ahead of Americans and Canadiens, tied in second place with three points. Montreal Maroons, who play Rangers in a home game tomorrow, are cellar-dwellers with two points.

Things didn't look so bright for Bruins in the first half of their game with Amerks. Little Eddie Wiseman sent Amerks away to a lead in the first period with a long shot that fooled Goaltender Tiny Thompson.

It wasn't until after 10 minutes of the second period that Bruins got that one back, when Flash Hollett, their hefty young defenceman, scored unassisted. Then in the final period, less than two minutes from the end, rookie Porky Dumart scored the winner.

BIG LINE STARS

The bombarding Leafs, who have scored 24 goals in five games, were led again by their ace line of Harvey Jackson, Gordon Drillon and Syl Apps. These marksmen accounted for half of the Toronto goals, each getting one. Other Leaf scorers were big Red Horner, Buzz Boll and Pep Kelly.

Paul Haynes led the Flying Frenchmen with two goals, while Joffre Deslites, Johnny Gagnon, Toe Blake and Rod Lorrain each scored one.

It was all Doc Romnes in the Chicago-Detroit clash as the veteran Hawk centreman ran wild for four minutes in the second period, scoring twice and assisting in another goal scored by Paul Thompson. The only De (Turn to Page 14, Col. 8)

Edmonton Grads May Tour New Zealand

Invitation Will Be Extended, Says George Dewe, Well-known Western Sportsman

Edmonton Grads, Canada's champion girl basketball team, will likely receive an invitation from the New Zealand Basketball Association to tour New Zealand in its centennial year in 1940, stated George Dewe, well-known Edmonton sportsman, who returned here by R.M.S. Niagara last night after a lecture tour of New Zealand.

"If the Grads don't get an invitation it won't be my fault," said Mr. Dewe. "I have preached the team's perfection all over New Zealand, and they really believe that the Grads can show them something."

Basketball is a popular sport in New Zealand, but the game is not as fast as it is in Canada, he said. He thinks the Grads would be a sensation down there.

A keen supporter of rugby, cricket and latterly basketball, Mr. Dewe first came to Canada from New Zealand in 1912, and in the following year settled in Edmonton. He will be 76 on his next birthday. Mr. Dewe set out eight months ago to tell New Zealand of the beauties of Canada, and equipped with 180 slides, supplied by the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian National Railways, depicting this country's scenic grandeur, lectured throughout the north and south islands of New Zealand before public bodies, men's and women's clubs, sports organizations and school children. He also spoke a great deal over the radio and broadcasted from the farthest radio station, 42P, at Invercargill.

Mr. Dewe was given wide publicity by the New Zealand press during his tour.

Not afraid of expressing his convictions, he stirred up a little controversy when he challenged publicly the action of the New Zealand Rugby Union when that body turned down the suggestion that an all-Canadian rugby team tour New Zealand, on the grounds that rugby in Canada was not sufficiently advanced to guarantee the success of such a tour.

Dr. Dewe was quoted widely in the New Zealand newspapers on what he termed "an insult to Canada."

Mr. Dewe was instrumental in inducing the late W. F. Massey, then premier of New Zealand, to use his influence in bringing the famous All Blacks on their first visit to Canada in 1925.

ANGLERS MAY FISH RIVER

Licenses to Angle Cowichan River Still Available; Nanaimo Meeting Held

Word received from Jack Falkins, secretary of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association, is that the Indian Agent at Duncan will continue to issue licenses granting sportsmen the right to fish that part of the Cowichan River that runs through the Indian Reserve.

The agent reported to Falkins that no further trouble was expected from the tribesmen, but pointed out that should the tribes molest any angler in possession of a license he may seek assistance from the police.

NANAIMO MEETING

Nanaimo delegates attending the meeting of the Affiliated Fish and Game Associations of Vancouver Island here last night heard the arguments of the Indians and the government in regard to the Cowichan River dispute, and decided to take no action in the matter. A delegation headed by Rev. Father X. Lauzon, represented the Indian tribes, and J. F. Tait of the Deminion Fisheries Department explained his department's stand.

The Indians explained that in 1914 they were allowed to use both weirs and nets, but now their operation had been eliminated. They claimed that the tribe living on the upper reaches of the river cannot use nets, and consequently suffer, while lower river Indians, using nets, secure all the fish they want.

One delegate maintained the food supply of the 700 Indians depended upon their catch of salmon for winter food. The permit system was objected to by Indian Chief Thorn. He said when an Indian secured a license he was liable to be stopped after catching only a few fish.

GOVERNMENT'S SIDE

J. F. Tait told the meeting that the government had no intention of changing its stand, and that weirs were now out of the question. "No amount of discussion could change this decision," he said.

The government official said that conditions on the Cowichan River had changed greatly in recent years and that weirs had become objectionable to the general public. This being due, he pointed out, to the fact that spring salmon were being prevented from going up the river. The springs are game fish and must be protected. He said the Indians were allowed to catch any amount of chum salmon with the use of gaffs, spears and nets six days in a week. The tribes were allowed to take springs for fresh food, but not for preserving, Mr. Tait stated.

Albani delegates did not think Indians should be allowed to have police dogs, as they are allowed to run wild, are not licensed and are dangerous. They were not in favor of 22 rifle or shotguns for shooting deer, and thought that duck shooting be prohibited after 5 in the evening. These resolutions will be discussed by the various clubs.

Inspector F. R. Butler, member of the B.C. Game Commission, informed the meeting that the board expected to take over administration of fish hatcheries in the province from the federal department next month.

ANGLERS HOLD BIG JAMBOREE

Over 600 Present at Annual Association Party at Chamber of Commerce

Climaxing a successful season of activity, more than 600 were present at the jamboree staged yesterday evening at the Chamber of Commerce by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. The event was declared by association officials to have been the most successful in the history of the organization.

A hearty welcome to the many guests was extended by Frank Moore, president. The programme was then turned over to Charlie Clark, chairman of the entertainment committee and Bev Gilson, secretary of the association.

Artists contributing to the programme included Miss Sheila Conway, vocalist; Bill Harkness, magician; Miss Geraldine Patterson, acrobatic dancer; Ernie Fullerton, piano-accompanist; Yorkie and Jerry, ventriloquist; and Misses Ida and Marguerite Lalonde, tap dancers.

Dancing to a four-piece orchestra, with spot prizes for the lucky dancers, added to the excellent programme. The committee responsible for the success of the function follows: Charlie Clarke (chairman), Bev Gilson (secretary), Len Holyoak, Harry Woolston, Fod Ray, Dan Thomas, Bill Lucas, "Chuck" Kinlock, Dr. Hugh Clarke, Bill Halliday, George Smith, Mrs. George Smith and Miss Irene Deacon.

INJURIES STRIKE FOOTBALL SQUADS

entertains Queen of the South. The leaders may be troubled by the Thistles, who made it 6 to 2 over Ayr United last week, but Hearts are looked on as a "cinch" to topple the Dumfries squad.

Third-place Rangers, who have a knack of playing poorly against admittedly inferior clubs, have a home game with Morton, newly-promoted eleven in or near the cellar since the season opened.

Celtic, cupholder, battling near the top of the league, meets Ayr United at Parkhead. In fifth position, Falkirk is host to Hibernians, while Dundee, fast slipping out of contention after holding a place at the top for weeks, goes to Third Lanark.

Arbroath has another home game tomorrow. After holding Rangers to a 1 to 1 tie a week ago, the Gayfield Park squad should not find it hard to take maximum points from Kilmarnock.

Navy to Meet Bays Tomorrow

Will Clash at Macdonald Park in First-half Barnard Cup Final

First half Barnard Cup rugby supremacy will be decided tomorrow afternoon at Macdonald Park when the J.B.A.A. take the field against the Navy in the final game of the initial schedule.

The sailors share second place with the Oak Bay Wanderers, but if they defeat the oarsmen it will create a three-way tie for top position. The rowing clubs have two victories in as many starts and even a draw in tomorrow's game will give them the first half championship.

On the lower field the Wanderers are scheduled to play the Army. This should give "rep" Coach Wally Brynjolfson a good chance to see all four teams in action at a glance.

Six games are on tomorrow's schedule.

PROBE URGED ON GASOLINE

Dr. Clyde Telford Asks House Investigation

Dr. J. Lyle Telford, C.C.F., Vancouver East, today gave notice of motion asking the Legislature to investigate gasoline and oil distribution in the province. His resolution charges an unwarranted price spread between producer and consumer and needless duplication of gas stations.

Dr. Telford is also asking for a House investigation of flour and bread prices.

Mrs. D. G. Steeves, C.C.F., North Vancouver, has given notice of a resolution demanding that the Dominion Government prohibit the export of war materials to nations waging war in contravention of international contracts.

E. E. Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby, is asking for an investigation by select committee of the cost of school textbooks.

Conservatives announced they will move a resolution to place the House on record against any change in the Empire trade treaties damaging to the industries of British Columbia.

The car was driven by Dr. B. E. McKee, who appeared in the City Police Court this morning charged with driving while intoxicated.

A remand until tomorrow morning was granted Earl Barnswell when he appeared in the City Police Court this morning charged with retaining stolen goods. Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, said the original plea of not guilty would be changed to one of guilty when the case was called in the morning. The stolen property was a battery and case.

Members of the Central Junior High School traffic patrol detail, sixteen in number, will be the guests of Dave Nicol at Saturday evening's basketball game between the Victoria Dominos and Seattle's Alt Heidebergs. On Tuesday next, the management of the Dominion Theatre will show its appreciation for the work done by the young boys by admitting them to the current show.

City Police today sought trace of the driver of a stolen car who was in a collision last night and failed to stop after damaging another car. The collision occurred at Hillside and Quadra Streets when the stolen car struck a machine driven by B. C. Gillie, 2467 Quadra Street. Mr. Gillie told police that after the accident the stolen car sped away at a high rate of speed down Hillside Avenue. The stolen car was owned by John Perry, 155 South Turner Street and was taken from the rear of the Atlas Theatre.

Metre Parking Is Requested

Vancouver city presented its requests for an electrician's examining board, motor car testing stations and the parking meter system to the private bills committee of the Legislature this morning. H. G. T. Perry was chairman.

The request for the examination of electricians met with opposition from H. E. Winch, C.C.F., Vancouver East, and E. H. Morrison of the Vancouver branch International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who said he represented 600 electricians in the city of Vancouver. He said such a board might provide "blacklist" and would limit the chance of the individual electrician, and would permit monopolies for the large contractors.

D. E. McTaggart, corporation counsel of Vancouver, said a board of examiners was operating for plumbers and had always been satisfactory. Mayor Miller said the proposed board would stop work being done by unqualified men and so protect householders. He said he was opposed to anything like a closed shop.

Mr. Winch thought a revision of the city's electrical inspection laws was more necessary than an examination board. No decision was arrived at. Establishment of testing stations would protect the pur-

Truck Theft Hearing Opens

James Watson Charged With Stealing Vehicle From W. H. Malkin Company

Preliminary hearing opened in the City Police Court this morning of a charge against Robert Watson of stealing a delivery truck last night from W. H. Malkin Company.

Watson was arrested last night by Sgt. A. H. Bishop after he was found sitting in the truck in the E. and N. yard at the foot of Johnson Street.

Harold Brynjolfsson, salesman of the company, said he parked the truck on the lower part of Yates Street last night about 8 and found it gone when he came out of the warehouse. He said when he saw the truck later at police headquarters there was approximately $30 worth of cigarettes, tobacco and miscellaneous merchandise missing from it.

J. J. Moon, Dundas Street, and Morris Constable, attendant at Barber's Service Station, Johnson Street, both testified they saw the accused drive the stolen truck down Johnson Street and into the E. and N. yard. The former gave evidence of having watched Watson park the truck in the yard.

The hearing will continue tomorrow morning.

Work On Movie To Early Hours

Actors and technicians of Central Films' 11th movie were resting this morning after getting their picture into production with a heavy night's work.

It was 3 this morning when the lights went out and the equipment was loaded into trucks to be taken back to the Willows studio from the location on Store Street, where the first sequences were filmed.

Three planes had to be pressed into service yesterday to get production going on schedule. The machines brought sound equipment from Seattle to Victoria and also rushed Thomas Jackson, second cameraman, here to take the place of Jack Kenny who was unable to leave the United States because of immigration complications.

One of the neatest tricks of the movie business was used by the company last night to get around the weather problem. The technicians know rain was impending, so to avoid having the streets shiny in some sequences and dry in others they hosed the roadway down before the camera started turning and kept it glistening until the rain took over the job.

LAND SALES IN CITY UP

October Figures $154,105, Boosting 10-Months' Total to $1,175,284

A total of $154,105 worth of property was sold in Victoria during October, figures announced by A. V. Danby, assistant city assessor-collector, today showed.

The sales represented the third highest month of the year to date and boosted the total from the beginning of January to $1,175,284, the best for the period covered since 1932.

In October last year sales amounted to $103,925. In addition to sales, transfers accounted for changes in ownership of another $44,190 and wills and probates for another $52,490, making the total $250,775 for the month.

Chasers of used cars, Alderman Fred Crane told the committee. Nine out of ten used cars, he said, were sold, not in the best possible condition, but at the cheapest possible price. Alderman W. T. Straith of Victoria suggested the matter be postponed until the government brought in its law regarding the testing of drivers.

The Board of Trade was opposed to the establishment of the parking meter system, where motorists would pay five cents an hour for parking on business streets, the committee was told. Alderman Crane said the city wanted only enough revenue to pay for supervision. The meter system would be in effect only from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. It had worked satisfactorily in the United States, he said.

The matter was left for decision at a camera meeting of the committee.

OBITUARY

HARRY BROWN TURPIN

Word was received at his home, "Villa Grazia," Rockland Avenue, today of the sudden death in Italy of Harry Brown Turpin, aged 81 years. Mr. Turpin, with Mrs. Turpin who survives him, first came to Victoria in 1921 from Dayton, Ohio. They have since divided their time between their home here and the States, when not engaged in travelling abroad. They left Victoria a year ago last September for Europe. Mr. Turpin was a gifted musician and the possessor of a fine voice, and the late Cecil Fanning was a protege of his. He had many friends here who will mourn his loss.

FRANK L. HUTCHINSON

Funeral services for Frank L. Hutchinson were held this morning at the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. Rev. W. E. Cock-shott conducted the service in the presence of a large gathering of sympathizing friends. The remains were forwarded to Vancouver for cremation.

Interment will be in Holy Trinity churchyard, Patricia Bay.

Lorne Alan Skinner was born at Pinkham, Sask., in 1918, and was educated in the Sidney Public School and the North Saanich High School. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Skinner of Sidney, three brothers, Jack, Ted and Sammy, and one sister, Phyllis, all at home.

PETER FREDERICK INGRAM

Peter Frederick Ingram, aged 66 years, of 1770 Fort Street, passed away yesterday in the Royal Jubilee Hospital. He was born in Woodstock, Ontario, and had resided here for 19 years. Mr. Ingram was a member of the Palestine Lodge, No. 46, A.F. & A.M., Tofield, Alberta. He is survived by two daughters, Jessie and Stella, at home; four brothers, Wesley, Victoria; James and Charles, Tofield, Alberta; and Emerson, Edmonton, and three sisters, Mrs. G. Owen, Edmonton; Mrs. W. Sears, Tofield, Alberta; and Mrs. Overton, Iowa, U.S.A. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

WILLIAM C. MIDDLETON

At the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Wednesday there passed away William C. Middleton of 654 Pioneer Street, Esquimalt, aged 74 years. Born in South Africa, Mr. Middleton came to B.C. 34 years ago, and for a number of years taught school in the Queen Charlotte Islands. There survives one nephew, Robt. Leapingwell of Boyup Brook, Australia. Funeral services will be conducted in the Sands Mortuary on Monday at 10.30. Rev. G. R. V. Bolster will officiate and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

WOULD ASSIST DECORATIONS

Provided Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt contribute their quota, the finance committee of the City Council will bring forward a recommendation calling on Victoria to assist the Junior Chamber of Commerce in its plan to sponsor external house decorations in Greater Victoria during the Christmas period.

The finance committee considered a letter from the junior chamber today asking for financial support for the undertaking which would add to the festive air of the city during the holidays. The scheme calls for competitive decorations with prizes being awarded to the most effective.

The committee also decided to leave in abeyance any recommendation on fire insurance for the grain elevator until a report had been submitted by the building inspector covering the revaluation of the plant.

A. G. LAMBRICK WILL RETIRE

Councillor Arthur G. Lambrick, a member of the Saanich Council for the last three years, will retire from active participation in municipal affairs at the end of this year, he said today. Pressure of personal business has necessitated the move Councillor Lambrick said.

For the last three years Mr. Lambrick has sat as a member of the council representing Ward Three, the Gordon Head and Cadboro Bay districts.

He was elected in 1934 when he defeated the former incumbent, G. A. Vantreigh. He was subsequently returned without opposition.

W. P. Marchant Seeking Post

Well-known Local Barrister Will Stand For School Board

W. Percy Marchant, well-known barrister, Rotarian and member of the city's zoning board of appeal, today announced his candidature for a post on the Victoria School Board.

He had not decided today whether to stand for one of the one-year by-election seats or to enter the campaign for one of the two-year terms.

He statement today brought the field of definite entries up to three. Trustee John Wallace has made public his decision to stand for re-election, while R. G. Mulliner is out for one of the by-election seats.

Trustees Walter Staneland, Kenneth Ferguson and C. R. Bishop, contacted today, declined to announce their intentions. It is believed all three will seek re-election.

Several other names have been mentioned as prospective candidates. They include Alex Marshall, Arthur Pike and Dr. Stanley Miles.

The entry of Mr. Marchant into the school board race will mark his first bid for public life. He has long been known as an active service club worker, and has assisted the city for years as a member of the zoning board of appeal, to which he was appointed on November 25, 1929, as the successor of J. H. Doughty-Davies, who was employed by the city to draft the original zoning by-law and map.

Election notices were being posted by Frank Hunter, returning officer, today. Mr. Hunter issued a warning that anyone disturbing them would be liable to court action.

WANT CITIES RESPONSIBLE

Members Feel Persons Should Have Redress For Street Mishaps

Possibility of a concerted effort on the part of the Legislature to bring in amendments to the Municipal Act making every municipality assume full responsibility for first-class maintenance of its streets and roads was seen in the private bills committee of the Legislature this morning. Members of the committee strongly opposed Vancouver City's request that it be relieved of obligations to keep its streets in repair, and thereby guard against continual legal actions in this regard.

In Victoria, if a person suffers an accident on the streets, he has no redress, unless he can prove "gross negligence," and that the city knew a street or sidewalk was dangerous, and ignored the fact, the committee was told.

R. L. Maitland, K.C., Conservative; H. E. Winch, C.C.F., and Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, C.C.F., expressed themselves strongly against the amendment, which Vancouver has brought before the committee annually for years.

CHANGE ACT

Mrs. Steeves went so far as to say the Municipal Act should be changed to provide that streets be kept in first-class condition by every municipality in the province. She said North Vancouver suffered from poor streets and roads, and if Vancouver was granted its request at this time it would make it more difficult to amend the Municipal Act, to provide that each municipality be responsible for its streets.

The committee reserved its decision on the matter for a closed meeting.

Saanich Budget In Fine Shape

Estimates Balanced, Sinking Fund Payments Made and Borrowings Reduced

The Saanich Council this year will complete its finances with a balanced budget, a percentage of tax collections highest in seven years, no over-draft at the bank and full payment of all money due in the sinking funds and on account of debenture interest.

These were the encouraging features of the 10-month financial statement submitted to the council yesterday evening by Wilfred A. Grege, accountant.

Estimated cash receipts are anticipated to be slightly in excess of the $383,250 estimate. This surplus will be taken care of by an overexpenditure on the works account to balance the budget.

Percentage of tax collections has already reached 84.05 per cent, compared with 82.29 per cent last year, and is expected by the end of the year to reach the 86 per cent upon which the budget was based. The highest percentage of collections recorded in the municipality was 91.04 per cent in 1930.

The total tax levy for the year was $229,442, or $9,611.23 less than last year, yet total collections at October 31 were only $4,799.48 less than last year. The drop in estimated revenue this year was due to the assessment reduction on farm lands and certain improved properties.

Bank borrowings this year were $10,000 less than last year for current expenditures, this year's total being $160,000. This amount has been fully paid off and there is no indication the council will have any overdraft at the year end.

For the first time in four years the council made the full payment of $14,658 into the sinking funds. During the last few years Saanich, in common with other cities and municipalities, was forced to cut its sinking fund allowances to a minimum, but this year's payment was the full amount appropriated in the budget. The result of this payment was the increasing of the sinking fund to $33,000, investment of which in provincial securities has been authorized.

In addition the council paid $43,210 in debenture interest on corporation bonds.

As was the case last year, there was again no occasion to borrow for relief purposes. The corporation's share of relief was $16,128, as compared with $19,698 last year.

At October 31 there was a surplus of $15,383.30. Estimated expenditure for November and December is $38,000, and estimated revenue for the same period $22,500.

After the reading of the statement Reeve Crouch and members of the council congratulated themselves on the successful year's financing, which they felt was due partly to improved general conditions and good management.

Gold Problems Are Discussed

W. J. Asselstine Tells Rotarians Young Canadians Needed in Industry

"Let us hope young Canadians will continue to take their place in the mining industry in the future as they are doing today," declared W. J. Asselstine, M.P.P. for Atlin, during his address to the Rotary Club yesterday.

The speaker said British Columbia was fast realizing its object in finding places for its youth in the mining industry of the province. He said he was glad to see the gradual lessening of the foreign element as employees.

Mr. Asselstine dealt with some of the problems of gold production in British Columbia. Those parts of the province bordering on the Yukon were the chief districts of gold recovery at the present time, and he told of the new developments there.

The province in British Columbia in regard to mining are unique in comparison to those of the east," the speaker declared. Ontario was comparatively flat and had accessible hydro power. In B.C. he said diesel power was taking the place of the more easily harnessed natural power in the eastern provinces.

DEVELOPMENT

Mining played a great part in the development of a country in regard to settlement, Mr. Asselstine said. He cited as an example the development of the Cariboo district as a result of the extensive gold operations there in the early days. There was a striking difference in the individuality of the problems of the different gold mines throughout the province in regard to their respective modes of gold recovery. Hauling to market was one of the largest factors in the process of bullion recovery.

The Dominion Government was doing a great deal in the opening up of the outlying districts of the province as gold producing centres, Mr. Asselstine said. The expenditure on trails for adequate hauling to market was the main obstacle which was being overcome by the government. He

Rheims Cathedral's Battle Scars Healed

Out of the battlefield at Rheims, France, the famed cathedral rises again, its battle scars healed and its ancient glory recreated in restoration work that began shortly after the World War guns cooled off. This is how it appeared when consecrated recently. The heroic bronze statue of Joan of Arc that stands in front is the same one that was there before the war. French soldiers hid it from invaders.

Spoke briefly of the metallurgical research being undertaken by the government, and pointed out this was a great help in the development of mining in the province.

Twelve thousand men were employed in the mining industry of British Columbia, the speaker declared. Larger tonnages were being mined, and there was an increase in daily wages.

ST. MARK'S A.Y.F.A.

Arrangements have been made by St. Mark's A.Y.F.A. for a novelty card party to be held next Wednesday in the parish hall. Each member is urged to bring at least one table of players for bridge, whist or 500.

An interesting talk was given by Reg Porter on his experiences on the west coast survey ship at the last meeting.

Even in cold weather, the human body evaporates about one gallon of water a day.

Says Premier Wants Mandate

If Victoria Sends Liberal He Will Have It, McKelvie Tells Audience

Premier King wanted a mandate to interfere with the Empire trade agreements and if Victoria sent a Liberal to Ottawa he would consider he had such authority from "the most British city on the continent," Bruce A. McKelvie, Conservative candidate in the forthcoming federal by-election, said last night at Oaklands School.

He said he received a telephone call from Port Alberni from a resident who told him if the proposed trade agreement between the United Kingdom and the United States went through it would be absolutely disastrous to Port Alberni.

"I will not go to Ottawa as an advocate alone for Victoria, but for the whole of Vancouver Island," he said.

Mr. McKelvie said he asked Mr. Mayhew how he could justify his appeal, based on patronage and self interest, when, in 1932, he had most violently denounced such things in the Kidd report.

BUSINESS EXPERIENCE

Replying to Mr. Mayhew he said he had had business experience as secretary of the manufacturers' branch of the Vancouver Island Board of Trade. He said he had been sent to Honolulu in connection with a trade agreement signed between Canada and New Zealand and the business interests of the province had considered his work so advantageous to British Columbia that they requested him to go to Ottawa in 1932 as an adviser.

"Who was it that provided the drydock at Esquimalt?" Mr. McKelvie asked. "Who was it that got the Ogden Point docks? Was it Mr. Mackenzie King? I know it was that fine man, Dr. Tolmie, who secured these advantages for Victoria."

All the Liberals offered to Victoria, he said, was an intangible hope.

"Why is it they have sent a cabinet minister to Victoria to take charge of this by-election? Why is it that men and women go up and down the streets asking you how you are going to vote and even threatening you if you don't vote for Mr. Mayhew, fine man though he is. They consider it the most vital election since 1911," he said.

C.C.F. NOT FACTOR

Robert D. Harvey, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, said the general opinion was the C.C.F. was not a factor in this election. The Liberals, he said, were waging a dishonest campaign, politically speaking. Their defence policy was inadequate and he claimed Mr. Mayhew displayed his ignorance of the matter in his discussions of it. A private member in Ottawa, he said, had to take without complaint what the government gave him for his constituency and that an opposition member had more force than a man in the back benches of the government side.

The defence programme was laid by the Conservatives, Hugh Allan said, and the only reason it was not put into operation was because Canada did not have the money, and now the Liberals were taking the credit for it. Liberal money was flowing like water in this campaign, he said, as in the provincial election, when $6,000 was spent in newspaper advertising.

"This was not paid by the Liberal party, but by the province and each of us shall have the pleasure of paying it in turn," he said.

E. W. Maynard occupied the chair. J. A. Paton, M.P.P., was on the platform and spoke briefly.

Land Grant On Island Scored

Colin Cameron Says House Must Act on Chief Forester's Warning

"The time has come to challenge the boast that 'I will do what I can with what I own,'" declared Colin Cameron, C.C.F., Comox in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday, maintaining the government should be prepared to take control over logging operations for the purpose of insuring proper forest regeneration.

"It remains to be seen," he said, "if this Legislature is strong enough to resist the pressure that will be brought to bear upon it by private interests opposing the idea."

"If we are not prepared to implement the proposals which our chief forester has made to us we might just as well close down the forestry department and we are rapidly approaching the end of our forest resources. The economic council has shown us that 37 per cent of our economic life depends on the forest industry."

Mr. Cameron pointed out that Mr. Manning's difficulty was the provincial government's inability to control crown grants, particularly the E. & N. land grant.

Mr. Cameron said that in the E. & N. land grant 1,900,000 acres of the best land on the island had been given away by the governments at Ottawa and Victoria. The "booty" had been granted and probably would stay that way until a C.C.F. government took power. In the meantime, however, the authorities must take stock of what was happening to it.

Saanich Grants Christmas Relief

The Saanich Council yesterday evening approved granting of an extra day's work to relief recipients during Christmas week in order to try and make their celebrations a little more cheerful.

The proposal was introduced by Councillor E. C. Warren, Ward Two, and unanimously supported by the council.

The council also authorized a grant of $300 to the Saanich Friendly Help to match a grant which the provincial government has agreed to make to the organization.

BILIOUS ATTACK After Every Meal

Those sick headaches you suffer from are very likely due to stomach disorder. Very likely your case is like that of Mr. H. W. H. of Didcot, who became so bad from biliousness and sick headaches that he used to experience an attack after every meal. Not till he tried Maclean Brand Stomach Powder did he find anything to give him relief—but that relief was quick and sure. "The first bottle gave me such speedy relief that I continued the treatment," he writes, "I could soon eat without fear of any trouble."

In our files is letter after letter telling similar stories of relief from the sufferings of disordered stomach brought on over a long period of time—but usually right away. If you are bothered with sick headaches and bilious attacks, give this hospital remedy a trial. Be sure you look for the signature, "Alex. C. Maclean," on both bottle and carton. None other is genuine Maclean Brand Stomach Powder. In powder or tablets, 75c, at druggists. 117

FOREST PLAN IS ADVOCATED

Revelstoke Member Tells House Time Has Come For Broad Action

A broad programme of forest perpetuation to protect and maintain British Columbia's largest single industry was advocated in the Legislature yesterday by Harry Johnston, Liberal, Revelstoke, a lumberman himself.

He proposed supervision and regulation of logging operations, a greater allotment of forest revenues for renewal measures, larger steps to promote reforestation, and more expenditure on scientific research.

Mr. Johnston pointed out that production value of the lumber industry for the last 10 years had been $65,000,000, the largest in the province, and yet only $15,000 had been spent on forest research last year, against $151,000 on agricultural research.

The Revelstoke member also described the issue of roads for the interior, and told how work was progressing on the Big Bend Highway, final link in the Trans-Canada Highway within the province.

A small light-meter has been invented to measure the amount of light in a room.

Works Account Nearly Spent

There is a net balance of only $226.33 in the Saanich roads and bridges account despite an additional allocation of $7,000 by the municipal council, according to a report presented last night.

The balance remaining for expenditure, from a total allocation of $50,729.19, is $1,914.59, while there has been an over-expenditure of $1,888.26.

From an original allocation of $7,000 for each ward, the following are the individual expenditures: Ward One, $6,937.92; Ward

Two, $7,142.05; Ward Three, $6,594.83; Ward Four, $7,950.72; Ward Five, $6,012.74; Ward Six, $6,930.94; Ward Seven, $6,608.98; general, $1,813.94, and parks, $737.07.

In order to keep additional expenditures at a minimum, the council ruled there should be no more than $350 spent in each ward not already overspent, from now until the end of the year.

Dogs Are Danger To Automobilists

At the monthly meeting of the committee of the Victoria branch of the Columbia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the treasurer presented the auditor's report for the year ending October 31, which showed an increase of revenue over expenditure of $34.25. Membership also had increased, the number of subscribers for the same period amounting to approximately 900, over 100 more than last year.

The inspector reported that birds had been fed during the heavy snow in Mount Tolmie, Normal School, Beacon Hill and Mount Douglas districts. Some stock were observed out during the bad weather; owners are advised to give shelter to cattle and horses during heavy snow.

Considerable embarrassment is caused to motorists by dogs which run alongside cars and motorcycles and snap at the wheels; not only is there danger of the dog being hit, but motorists in trying to avoid the animal may be injured or their cars damaged. Owners of dogs are requested to keep them under better control, the practice is dangerous and the owner of the dog, under certain circumstances, may be liable to be prosecuted.

A member of the committee was of the opinion that some rabbit breeders keep their animals in hutches that are too small. The dimensions recommended by the Department of Agriculture in bulletin number 80, issued by the poultry branch are as follows: Length from five to six feet, height two feet, depth two feet; this leaves ample room for the rabbit to exercise.

The annual general meeting has been postponed to Tuesday, November 30. It will be held at 8 p.m. in the society's office, 304 Jones block, 715 Fort Street.

During the month 40 cases were attended and 313 animals and birds inspected.

Cases of cruelty or neglect should be reported to the inspector, G. A. Allen, phone E 8351, or to A. R. Sherwood, secretary-treasurer, phone E 7556, or the society's office, 304 Jones block.

Loyalists Are Much Stronger

Sergt. W. Dent Tells of Activities of Canadians in Spanish War

Today the Loyalist government of Spain was far better prepared to carry the brunt of Fascist attacks than ever before, declared Sergt. Walter Dent, Toronto youth who has just finished eight months of service in the Spanish war, in addressing a meeting of citizens last night in the C.C.F. Hall, Fort Street. The meeting was held under the auspices of friends of the Canadian MacKenzie-Papineau Battalion.

A formidable front army of 800,000 well-trained soldiers had been developed by the government; they were manufacturing their own war materials and there was a great singleness of purpose among their supporters as they realized more than ever they must mass to fight the great menace now endangering the democracy of their country—Fascism, Sergt. Dent inferred.

The meeting was one of a Dominion-wide series that are being conducted to secure $5,000 to purchase Christmas presents for the soldiers in the battalion. The presents will include stockings, boots, mufflers, and other luxuries. Rev. A. E. Smith, general secretary of the Canadian Labor Defence League, preceded Sergt. Dent on the floor and urged wholehearted public support for this cause.

Sergt. Dent brought greetings from the battalion members, noting that its present strength was 1,090. "Most of us were green at the outset of our pilgrimage in Spain," he asserted, "but after months of hard fighting and training we have progressed rapidly and today are regarded as model soldiers and are used exclusively as shock troops in the front lines."

The speaker quoted various major offensives the Canadian unit had participated in, and occasionally injected humorous incidents which they had experienced. He said the battalion had a fine library, enjoyed the music selections from a quartette which had been organized, to which accompaniment they sang, and had an expert barber to trim their hair and take off their whiskers, all of which helped to maintain the morale of the company.

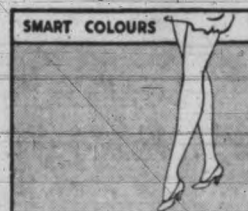

"These Canadian boys have have not only traveled 4,000 miles to fight Fascism and save the democracy of Spain, but to fight for world democracy so that it may reign supreme," the soldier who saw action in Spain emphasized. In closing, he pointed out that they were carrying on the traditions of a liberty-loving Canadian people. During the course of his talk he charged that the nonintervention committee was a farce from the start, and declared Canada's representative on the League of Nations opposed giving the Spanish Government a seat in the League.

Contributions to the drive will be accepted at the local office of the MacKenzie-Papineau Battalion.

A resolution from the health and morals committee recommending calling of a meeting of Greater Victoria representatives to discuss uniform milk regulations pertaining to inspection and hours of distribution, was tabled by the Saanich Council yesterday evening.

Buick for 1938

WHAT WE PRESENT today is something far more than another new car. It is the most advanced new car in the world!

When you examine the 1938 McLaughlin-Buick, you will recognize the truth of what we say. For you will see a car not only bigger and more beautiful in appearance—but a car set sharply apart from all others by two major engineering advancements.

One is the new Dynafash Engine... an outstanding improvement in McLaughlin-Buick's famous Valve-in-Head Straight Eight design... that results in performance literally without parallel in modern motoring.

The other is new "Torque-Free" Springing... The old leaf-type rear springs are gone—now each wheel has a soft, shock-smothering, uniformly flexing cushion of stout coiled steel. You're safer—skid risks are reduced a third—rear tires last longer—the car handles easier. And the soft-cushioned, floating ride is unaltered by either wear or weather.

No other car in the world offers you these two great engineering achievements. But McLaughlin-Buick goes further than that, even... combining them with Knee-Action-Tiptoe Hydraulic Brakes—Torque Tube Drive—Unisteel Turret Top Bodies by Fisher—and Fisher No-Draft Ventilation.

From the great new Dynafash engine to the last, perfect touch of its tasteful styling, this great new 1938 Eight is a car you cannot afford to miss seeing and driving today. It adds fresh laurels to McLaughlin-Buick's reputation for achievement—and to the fine old "McLaughlin tradition" of quality.

A Strange Fair

Farmers usually get up early, but on the 12th of last month many of them got up earlier than usual in the Midlands of England. It was one of the great days of the year for them—it was the day of "The Mop" at Stratford-on-Avon.

A roundabout at an English "Mop" Fair.

Many farmers in the Midlands live in homes with thatched roofs and timbered sides. Others have houses which are fairly modern. Whatever kind of house they lived in, they left it that day to go to the Mop. Thousands of people flocked into the city where Shakespeare was born.

The Mop is a yearly fair which grew from a strange old custom. On a certain day each autumn, household servants had the custom of trying to change their place of work. Women went to the town with mops in their hands, also with buckets. The mop was a sign that the woman was willing to work, and work hard.

People who wanted new servants also went to town on that day, and talked with those who wanted to work. They made bargains, after settling the yearly wage.

That was the start of the big fair called the Mop. Another, but smaller, fair was held 10 days later. Servants were not pleased with their masters or mistresses came to the fair, and tried to find different ones. It was called the "Runaway Mop," but it never grew to be so large as the first Mop.

Here is part of a letter from an English boy, Stanley Southam, telling about the Mop:

"Once every year in Stratford town, the Mop pays its visit. Two days before, showmen start to build their amusements. There are three or four sets of dodgem cars, a mountain glide, a Jack and Jill, roundabouts, fortune-tellers and other shows.

"The dodgemes are cars driven by electricity which go around a large rink, and dodge one another. The mountain glide has a tall tower about 60 feet high, with a winding chute in which you slide down.

"The Mayor of Stratford, Mr. Ray, opens the Mop, and off it goes in full swing. Usually there are five roasts—two oxen and three pigs. The fires are lighted at about 6 in the morning.

"The Mop usually goes on until midnight, when prices go higher. Coconut shies cause great amusement. The flea circus is also interesting."

Tomorrow we shall have paragraphs from other letters sent to me by pupils of the Council Central school of Stratford.

Families Should "Know" Members

Dorothy Dix

Should Speak Same Language

THE STRANGEST THING in the world is how little the members of most families really know each other. In nine homes out of ten the husbands and wives and parents and children are just as little acquainted with each other as if they were strangers who did not speak each other's language and who were meeting for the first time.

It seems impossible, but it is true, that men and women can live together in the intimacy of married life for 50 years without ever understanding each other, or getting the slightest inkling of what motivates each other and makes them do what they do. It is an even more incredible fact that parents can bear children, rear them to maturity and know less about them than they do about the office boy or the cook. While as for brothers and sisters, all they ever find out about each other is their worst points.

Why this should be the case, it is hard to say. Perhaps the family circle is so small that we are too close to the members of our household to get a perspective on their various characteristics. Perhaps familiarity has robbed them of the novelty which would make them interesting and we just take them for granted. Mother is just Mother, and Father is just Father. It comes with a shock of surprise to the children to find out that Mother is considered a great beauty and that Father, to whom nobody listens at home, is an oracle abroad. And why any boy is ever sap enough to fall for his sister no brother can even imagine.

This lack of family acquaintanceship is at the bottom of a lot of the evils of which we complain so much. For one thing, it is the explanation why domestic life is so dull and why an evening at home is generally either a scrapping match or gobs of silence so thick you could cut it with a knife. The husband and wife are not familiar enough with each other's pet prejudices to keep from stepping on each other's toes, so they actually dare not begin a conversation for fear of starting something. And they know so little of their children's interests and activities that they are dumb in their presence. When the average mother and father get through saying "don't" to their children and admonishing them to be good and study hard they have nothing further to say to them.

Most of the marriages that are failures are the result of husbands and wives never getting to know each other. The wife doesn't know her husband well enough to realize that the reason he doesn't pay her compliments and tell her how wonderful she is and how much he loves her is just because he is of a repressed nature and, as Barrie said of himself, "Has to wrap his legs around a table before he can ever write 'darling'." He thinks he proves his love by working himself to death to make her comfortable.

The husband isn't sufficiently acquainted with his wife to know that the reason she is disgruntled and dissatisfied, peevish and complaining is just because she is begging to have a fuss made over her and be told what a wonderful housekeeper she is; how her husband would be on Poverty Flat instead of Easy Street except for her marvelous management.

The reason there are so many male and female philanderers and so much divorce is because so many lonely, heart-hungry men and women are hunting for mates who will understand them and who won't stay perpetual strangers to them.

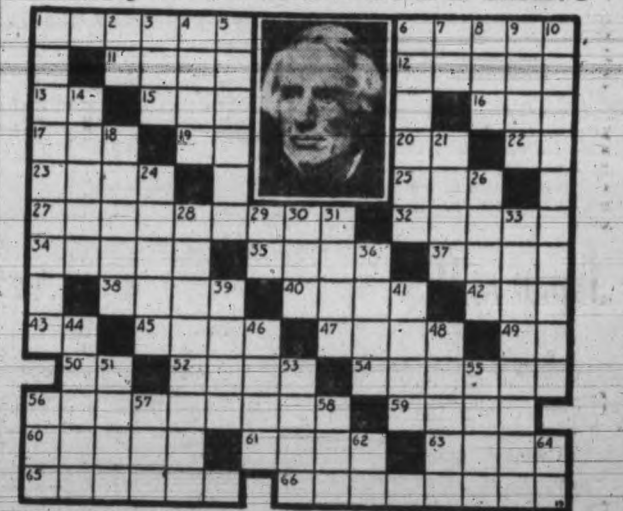

Perhaps the worst phase of families not getting acquainted consists in fathers and mothers not bothering to study their children and find out what abilities and talents they have. That would save so many wasted years, prevent so many failures, keep so many square pegs out of round holes that they can never fill.

But parents don't trouble to do it. When the average boy and girl consult their fathers and mothers about what occupation they should take up, father and mother haven't an idea to suggest. They have never observed whether Johnny is deft with his hands or quick with his mind; whether Sammy is a born trader or a congenial easy mark; whether nature intended Mary for Hollywood or the kitchen. So the poor, blundering children take the wrong turn of the road and throw away half a lifetime hunting for the short cut their parents could have shown them if only they had been acquainted.

What a pity people don't get acquainted with their own families.
